Defense Cut Called Unwise Security Gamble

Wilson Is Concerned OnDangers

Says World Peril Not Lessened Yet

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee today that a proposed $2,587,000,000 cut in defense budget "would amount to gambling unwisely with the security of the nation."

In prepared testimony Wilson said he believes there is "no real basis" for assuming international danger has lessened, then asserted:

Calls Cuts "Risky"

"Cuts based on hope alone are too risky."

Wilson said one of two things must occur to justify "real reductions" in security programs—"A real improvement in international relations or a disarmament agreement with proper safeguards."

Wilson said he has not had sufficient time to make detailed analyses of the cuts voted by the House Appropriations Committee.

But he told the senators:

Asks Restoration

"Some of the proposed reductions represent adjustments in capital funds or new obligational authority not immediately affecting the program. Such adjustments are a matter of judgment, and it should be recognized that most of them will have to be restored in subsequent years. Other proposed reductions would have an immediate impact on our defense program. We hope that your committee will see fit to restore most of the amounts of the proposed cuts in these areas, because they represent adjustments downward in our defense program of considerable magnitude and seriousness."

Wilson said it would be possible to "live with" $1,313,000,000 of the proposed cuts because they involve transfers of funds available in other forms to the Defense Department.

This would leave about $1,274,000,000 of the cut which Wilson obviously intends to fight. The original budget request was $36,128,000,000.

Reflects Ike's Concern

Reflecting President Eisenhower's concern about cuts in buying of aircraft and missiles, Wilson told the committee:

"The reductions which the (House) committee recommended to be applied in the fields of major procurement in the Navy and Air Force will, for the most part, have the direct effect of reducing the military program, the principal impact being in the field of aircraft, ships and missile procurement. I believe that these cuts should be restored."

After stating that cuts based on hope alone are risky, Wilson said:

Still Difficult Problems

"Europe and the Far East are still full of difficult, unresolved problems. While the shooting has stopped in the Middle East, the

Quarreled Over Homework

Boy, 14, Slays Mother, Sister

Rye, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—A 14-year-old schoolboy shot his mother and older sister to death in a wild burst of rifle fire last night after a quarrel with the sister over his homework.

The father, who hustled a younger son to safety, collapsed from a heart attack after police arrived. He was reported in critical condition in a hospital today.

The slayer, Andrew Casey, a tall and stocky Rye High School frreshman, was not told his mother and sister were dead. Police described him as "terribly sorry" for shooting them.

Slain in the gunfire—in which at least a dozen shots were fired—were Mrs. Dorothy Casey, 48, and Sheila, 20, an employe of the Rye National Bank.

Account of Shooting

The 50-year-old father, Gene R. Casey, is a public relations firm executive, and a former reporter for the Boston Globe and magazine writer.

Dist. Att. Joseph F. Gagliardi of Westchester county and Rye Police Chief Robert Warren questioned the youth and pieced together this account:

Andrew was censured at home last evening for poor marks at school. After dinner he sulkily went to his room in the family's $30,000 two-story house to study.

The boy, a former member of the rifle club of the Police Athletic League, later went downstairs for a glass of water and started back to his second-floor room. On the way he stopped at Sheila's room and had words with her about his studies which infuriated him.

.22 in Closet

Andrew then went to the room of a brother who is away at college, took the brother's .22 caliber pump gun from a closet and loaded it. He ran to Sheila's room and fired two shots, one of which struck her in the eye and mortally wounded her.

The mother, who was in the living room downstairs, heard the shots and ran upstairs. In the second-floor hallway Andrew pumped six shots at his mother, killing her instantly. Then he fired two shots into a wall, and two out a window.

The father ran from the kitchen, hustled the younger son, Mi-

Wallkill River Flood Control Is Talked at Goshen

First steps were taken in Goshen this week to set up a flood-control project over the length of the Wallkill river.

An executive committee was named to coordinate individual flood-control programs in areas of Ulster and Orange counties in New York state, and Sussex county, N. J., over which the river runs.

C of C Seeks Opinion On Area Train Service

Public sentiment as to the demand for better train service, particularly on the Main Line of the New York Central Railroad at Rhinecliff, is being sought by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

As a result of several requests, a special committee was named by the Chamber of Commerce. This committee, headed by John F. Schuehler, and a similar committee of the Rhinebeck Chamber of Commerce, of which E. L. Gunther is chairman, met in Kingston Wednesday night to consider the demand for and possibilities of securing better rail passenger service for the area. The opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge apparently prompted the request.

The joint committee decided to make an effort to determine the public demand for more convenient service before approaching railroad officials as to possible improvements.

Both Chambers of Commerce would like to hear from all those who now regularly use train service to reach the Metropolitan New York area, or travel North and West, and those who would use the service if additional trains were made available. By regular use, a spokesman said, would mean at least one or two round trips each week. It was also indicated that the Chamber of Commerce of both Kingston and Rhinebeck would also be pleased to hear from all those who now make occasional use of the service as well as those who would use the trains occasionally

Ave Urges Natural Gas Price Regulation Rule

New Rochelle, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman says New Yorkers will pay higher natural gas rates if Congress enacts legislation freeing producers from "effective" price regulation.

Harriman spoke last night before the annual dinner of the Westchester County Democratic Committee.

"The pocketbooks of thousands of families in New York state who are tied to natural gas lines," Harriman said, "will be raided if Congress enacts legislation freeing gas producers from effective price regulations."

The governor said he has asked the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee to reject the proposed legislation, adding:

"Without reasonable federal regulation of gas prices at the source, our hands will be tied to a large extent in preventing

4 Persons Hurt In New Tornado

By The Associated Press

More severe weather appeared in prospect for storm-battered and flood-stricken areas in the mid-continent today.

Tornadoes again swooped across sections of Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma and southern Illinois yesterday. However, the twisters did not cause any deaths as did the ones which pounded Missouri on Monday and Tuesday, killing a total of 51 and injuring nearly 300.

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in a tornado that hit the small town of Malone in central Texas last night.

8-Inch Rain Falls

Thunderstorms continued during the night from northeast Texas into southern Illinois. Most severe weather was reported from parts of northeast Texas and southeast Oklahoma into northwest Arkansas. Drenching rains hit many sections, with falls measuring up to 8 inches in some places.

Heavy rain fell in many parts of the storm belt, increasing the danger of further flooding in some areas already hit hard by overflows. Last night's heaviest rainfall was reported in Arkansas with more than 3½ inches in Fort Smith in a 6-hour period. Many towns in the northwest section of the state were hit by more than 2½ inches of rain.

House Is Destroyed

The twister skipped along a four mile path northward from five miles west of Malone, a town of 352 population some 70 miles south of Dallas.

The Herbert Sonnenberg family narrowly escaped death when they fled from their home after seeing the twister bearing down on them, said George Worley of Malone. Worley said the family ran along highway 171 and were slightly injured by a rain of debris when the tornado destroyed their six-room frame house.

The twister also smashed the nearby home of Earl Powers, 53. Powers was hospitalized at Hillsboro with a broken left leg. Sonnenberg, his wife, and son, Leon, 12, were treated for minor

A pre-nomination rally is scheduled Saturday night for Local 17, International Hodcarriers & Laborers Union, it has been announced by Joseph Becker of Newburgh, secretary-treasurer.

The event will take place at St. Mary's Hall, North street, he said at 7:30 p. m.

A spokesman for the union here said today the nominations will be held Friday, May 31 at 7:30 p. m. at municipal auditorium. The election date will be announced after the nominations are made, the spokesman said.

Russell Favors Big Cut

Backing Grows For Aid Budget

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Some Senate supporters said today their mail reflects growing public backing for President Eisenhower's $3,865,000,000 foreign aid program.

Others disagreed, and Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.) proposed cutting the proposals down to 2½ billion. He called for "the elimination of all economic assistance abroad except a reasonable technical aid program."

Opposes Revolving Fund

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview he is vigorously opposed to setting up a proposed revolving fund for making easy-term loans for economic aid abroad, adding that "Congress would lose all control over where this money is going."

The debate over the program continued in congressional cloakrooms as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee called John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA), for public questioning on details of the administration's proposals.

In advance of that hearing, Sen. Clifford P. Case (R.-N.J.) said the issue comes down to a choice of "spending dollars now or spending billions and endangering our boys later."

This was the line taken by Eisenhower in his television-radio appeal Tuesday night. The White House yesterday characterized as "amazing" the public response to that appeal. It said messages from individuals and organizations were running 9-1 in favor of foreign aid.

Javits Notes Shift

Case said messages to his office indicate "the great majority of the American people share the President's convictions and are wholeheartedly behind the mutual security program."

Sen. Javits (R.-N.Y.) said he had observed "a dramatic shift in public opinion" since Eisenhower's Tuesday night speech. Javits said messages to him are running 10-1 in support of the President's program.

Secretary of State Dulles got an unusually friendly reception when he opened the administration's case before the committee yesterday. Some senators voiced enthusiasm over the proposed shift in emphasis from grants to loans for economic development.

Wants $500 Million

The President wants 500 million dollars to finance the revolving fund in the fiscal year starting July 1, and 750 millions for each of the succeeding two years. He is asking $1,900,000,000 for military assistance and 900 millions for defense support for countries with which the United

Kent Purchases Huppert Site, to Modernize Store

Sherman B. Kent, president of Kingston Specialty Company, Inc., doing business at Kent Appliances at 53 North Front street, today announced the purchase of the William Huppert property at 59 North Front street. After remodeling and renovations are completed the property will be occupied by Kent Appliances.

Due to ill health Mr. Huppert, who formerly conducted Huppert's Pork Store, is retiring from business.

Alterations Underway

The premises will be completely remodeled and modernized and when work is completed Kent Appliances will occupy one of the most modern and complete appliance stores in the Hudson valley. Work on alterations was commenced today immediately following the passing of title yesterday.

Presently Kent occupies the Zwilling building at 53 North Front street. Prior to moving to the new quarters Kent will hold a gigantic removal sale to

Widely-Known Former Trooper Dies Wednesday

SGT. J. J. CUNNINGHAM

Sgt. James J. Cunningham, 73, widely known former state trooper, died suddenly at his home, Main street, Saugerties, late Wednesday afternoon.

Twenty-five years of his 32-year service with the State Police was served in the Saugerties-Kingston area. He was appointed officer in charge of the old Lake Katrine barrack at Route 9W and Lake Katrine road when it opened in 1943.

Sgt. Cunningham first joined the force Nov. 15, 1917, shortly after the State Police was established. He was transferred to Troop C at Sydney May 31, 1921. He also served the station at Woodstock for many years.

Born in Glens Falls, he lived in Fish Creek, town of Saugerties, prior to moving into the

Top Secret Meetings Being Held

London Parley Resumes Monday

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The administration scheduled two top-secret meetings today amid reports it may be nearing a new major policy decision on disarmament negotiations.

Sen. Humphrey (D. Minn.) said there are indications that "a genuine negotiation may actually be in the making" in London arms control talks on a limited, experimental agreement.

Ike, Stassen Confer

The London arms talks recessed last week to permit the negotiators to confer with their governments. The talks resume Monday.

President Eisenhower called Harold E. Stassen, his special assistant for disarmament and chief U. S. negotiator at the London conference, to a White House meeting of the national security council.

Later, Stassen and Secretary of State Dulles will report (2:30 p. m.) to a closed meeting of the Senate disarmament subcommittee, of which Humphrey is chairman. Major Democratic and Republican Senate leaders were invited to the meeting at Dulles' specific request.

Differences Possible

Chances that Adm. Arthur W. Radford and Stassen might air their apparent differences on disarmament policy faded when it was disclosed that Radford would not attend the security council meeting. His office first said he would attend, but later said he was scheduled to testify at an appropriations committee hearing.

As chairman of the Joints Chiefs of Staff, Radford frequently sits in on meetings of the council, the nation's top policy-making body.

In talking with reporters Sunday about east-west negotiations, Radford commented:

"We cannot trust the Russians on this or anything. The Communists have broken their word with every country with which they ever had an agreement."

Stassen Optimistic

Stassen, on the other hand, is reported to be somewhat optimistic about chances for a limited disarmament agreement, and to favor making clear to the Russians that the United States does give them some credit for good faith in their proposals.

Eisenhower, at his news conference yesterday, seemed to align himself more closely with Stassen's views than with Radford.

"I think our first concern should be making certain we are not ourselves being recalcitrant, we are not being picayunish about the thing," Eisenhower said. "We ought to have an open mind and make it possible for

Some Oppose Lighting For Town of Ulster Area

Some opposition to establishment of a special lighting district in the town of Ulster water district was expressed last evening at an informational meeting held at Chambers School.

It has been proposed that a lighting district be established by the town board to include the area bounded by the water district. Sentiment was definitely for lighting the "dangerous" or heavily traveled areas but some objection was offered to lighting the entire area.

A proposal to establish a lighting district has been advanced by the business men of the area, particularly the congested Albany avenue extension area. The meeting last evening was the second of the public informational meetings.

Attorney Sherwood E. Davis acted as moderator.

Interest in lighting the congested and heavily traveled routes was expressed and one of the areas mentioned as being particularly necessary was the Eddyville bridge. It was suggested that the town board establish a lighting district, placing lights on Routes 209, 9W and other heavily traveled routes including the Neighborhood road and the Eddyville bridge.

Residents of the Richmond Pork area were not particularly interested in lights in that area and a spokesman for residents in that location suggested a town board light district with the charge being a town charge rather than establishment of a light district on which the charge would be confined.

Main highways and "dangerous areas" were suggested as being in need of lighting and it was stated that it would be a

Improvements Will Cost N.Y. Central $250 Million

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central Railroad, said today the road was spending 250 million dollars this year in an improvement program.

Perlman made his remarks at an informal news conference on a special stockholders' train from New York city to the annual stockholders' meeting here.

Between 500 and 1,000 persons assembled in a big theatre here.

The train carried 366 stockholders. Passengers were served a free breakfast en route and also got a box lunch at the theatre after they arrived.

Perlman walked through the train shaking hands with stockholders. He was shepherded by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, serving as special counsel for the meeting, who had a hard time getting Perlman to move along.

Perlman said: "Our future improvement program depends on how our cash holds up. Right now, our cash is a little better than a year ago at this time."

In a prepared address for the meeting, Perlman hit at government transportation regulation which, he said, was "so archaic that it has made common car-

Benny May Take First Step Today

Manorville, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Seven-year-old Benny Hooper may take his first steps today, six days after being rescued from the bottom of a 24-foot well.

Young Benny had hoped to be up and around yesterday, but he was allowed only to sit in an armchair for a brief period. He is at Bayview Hospital, Mastic Beach, a few miles from his Suffolk county home.

Has Slight Cough

Dr. Joseph H. Kris, his physician, said Benny would probably go home this Friday or Saturday, depending on his progress. He said Benny still has a slight cough from bronchial inflammation.

Gifts and mail for young Benny continue to pour in at the hospital. Among the gifts are a battery-powered toy car big enough to ride in.

Dr. Kris said yesterday that Benny doesn't "actually remember" his 23½-hour ordeal, and probably never will. Kris said Benny may seem to remember in the future but "this will be mostly due to mental images from what he hears and what he reads about what happened to him."

Heroes Get Awards

At neighboring Garden City, N. Y., The Community Developers Council, an organization of Long Island builders, yesterday presented "hometown hero" awards to five men who helped save Benny.

Judges were a committee of fellow rescue workers, part of scores who labored franctically through last Thursday night and all day Friday to dig passage to Benny through shifting, sandy soil.

Each of the five award winners also were given $300 to further the education of his own children or some other child. The winners:

Sam Woodson, Negro construction worker from Riverhead, N. Y., the first man to reach Benny; Edward Gadzinski, chief of the Riverhead Fire Department; John Stachnik of the Eastport, N. Y., Fire Department; Gus Formhals, Manorville Fire Department; and Alex Pendzick, Center Moriches, N. Y., Fire Department.

Misses on Quiz, Life Is Different

Los Angeles, May 23 (AP)—Missing a question on a television quiz program cost aircraft worker Al Einfrank a small fortune, his wife and even—for a time—his health. But Einfrank says he has no tears, no regrets.

"Being on the $64,000 question was the greatest thrill of my life," said Einfrank, who is back at his $83-a-week truck driving job at Douglas Aircraft Co.

Wife Leaves

After he missed a question on geography at the $32,000 level last January, Einfrank said, his wife, Pauline, left him. He said she went to live with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Gelman of Adelphi, Md.

"You darn fool, she told me," Einfrank said. "Why didn't you stop at 32?"

"I blew my top . . . we've been married 32 years. . . . Is money everything, I asked her," Einfrank said.

"But maybe she was right," said the 57-year-old Einfrank. "We're not young any more, and she wanted to buy a house with the winnings."

Einfrank sold the car given him as a consolation prize for $6,000 bought a cheaper one and drove west.

Another Promise

"I had a breakdown in Tucson, Ariz.," he said. "I guess it was nerves. I spent six days in a hospital there. But I'm OK now."

Einfrank said he has been promised an appearance on the $64,000 challenge program "as soon as they can get an authority on geography."

Einfrank lives in a rented apartment which is cluttered with maps, globes and books on geography.

"I read and study all the time," he said.

"If I get another chance on television, I want to be ready."

Four Convicts Break Legs With Sledge

Buford, Ga., May 23 (AP)—Seven more prisoners sat down at Buford rock quarry yesterday and tried to break their legs with sledgehammers. Four succeeded.

Three convicts broke their legs Monday. Three others failed when they tried.

Director Jack Forrester had just announced plans of the corrections department to give mental tests to all prisoners when news came of the latest outbreak yesterday. He said it was hoped the examinations would reveal the real cause of trouble at the maximum security prison.

About 150 prisoners classed as incorrigibles are confined at the quarry.

Forty-one prisoners broke their legs or fractured leg bones last summer in a protest against alleged mistreatment.

All seven involved in the latest incident are Negroes. The six in Monday's episode are white.

Some of those involved in yesterday's incident complained of lack of medical care and at least one man said he did not get enough to eat.

Forrester said medical attention is available at all times. He said the Buford prisoners "are fed better than at any institution in the system, for the reason that they are incorrigible and maximum security men and are working in a rock quarry. Their work may be harder and more regular."

The Mayflower II, replica of the Pilgrim's ship, will be berthed all summer at 41st street, New York city.

Local Teachers Honored; 2 Are To Retire Soon

Six teachers of the Kingston school system were honored Tuesday at a Teacher Recognition Day with a luncheon, tea and broadcast.

Miss Jeanette Edson of School 6 and Boyd Miller, a member of the Kingston High School faculty, will retire when the school year closes next month. Miss Edson, a graduate of Oneonta State Teachers College, has taught in the city's schools for over 40 years, while Mr. Miller who holds degrees from Grove City College, Pa., New York State Teachers College and Union College, has been a chemistry instructor at the high school for 25 years. Mr. Miller has accepted a position as chemist with the Hercules Powder Co.

Four other teachers, Principal Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh and Miss Winifred Sullivan of School No. 4 and Miss Edith Van Gaasbeek and Miss Clara Ostrander of the Myron J. Michael School, were also honored for their long records of devoted service to the public schools.

Guests of Lions

The program for Teacher Recognition Day began with the morning broadcast, "Coffee at the Clinton" when the two retiring teachers were interviewed. At noon all six teachers were luncheon guests of Lions' Club, while in the afternoon they were given special recognition at a tea attended by all the teachers of the city, as well as members of the Board of Education.

In the evening a group of high school students presented a broadcast over WKNY at which they gave recognition to 12 teachers of the city. Other teachers recognized at this time included Mrs. Helen E. Partlan, Mrs. James J. Murphy, Mrs. Mildred DeWitt, Miss Ilse Selmer, Miss Katherine Fellows and Miss Agnes Scott Smith.

Those taking part in the broadcast included Benjamin Beck, Carl Wood, Patricia Melville, Francine Turck, Patricia Van Deusen, Edward Zwick, Alan Simmons, Bruce Miller, Lee Kias, Mrs. Vincent Connelly, Mrs. Mildred DeWitt and Warren Russell.

South African DIAMOND SALE

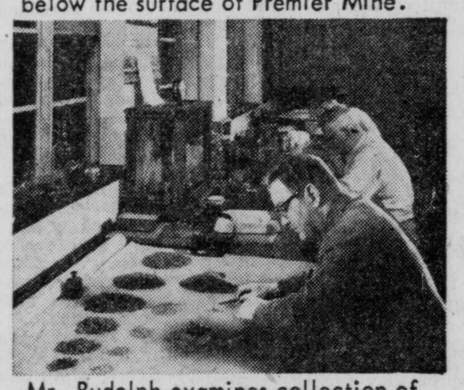

On today's magic carpet . . . a huge Royal Dutch Airline plane, I traveled over 18,000 miles to Africa and back, getting ready for this tremendous event. There, on this mysterious, primitive continent, I found the true reasons why the diamond is the most valuable of gems. At the great Premier Mine, near Johannesburg, I went more than a thousand feet below the surface. I visited the alluvia fields at famous Kimberley and viewed the blue ground being processed by the thousands of natives. At Johannesburg, I was shown the nerve-wracking delicate cutting given to each and every stone and there I made our important purchases. All of this has resulted in Diamonds direct from the Diamond Mines. The savings are passed along to you.

A LONG WAYS TO GO

It is a matter of pride for Americans that voluntary health insurance coverage has grown tremendously during the past decade. This feeling of pride should not be allowed to obscure the fact that, despite these gains, vast numbers of our population still lack adequate coverage. Marion B. Folsom, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, brought forth some eye-opening statistics on this subject, recently at a meeting of the Health Insurance Association of America.

About 75 million people, Folsom noted, have no surgical insurance protection. He said that even in the field of hospitalization insurance, which has become the most widespread form of health insurance, some 55 million Americans have no coverage of any kind. The cabinet member also cited various groups which have no insurance at all against the cost of medical care—half of those 65 years old or over, two-thirds of those with income under $2,000 a year, three-fifths of those living on farms.

This may seem like rather a dismal picture. Actually, the voluntary health insurance agencies have made great strides during the past few years. Folsom himself spoke of the "remarkable climb" that has been made since 1948, when health insurance paid less than nine per cent of the people's medical care bill. The figure today is almost 25 per cent.

It would be foolish, however, to ignore or minimize the import of Folsom's statistics. They mean that a huge portion of America's medical care bill is not yet backed by health insurance. They mean that Americans must think seriously about the plight of low-income families which cannot afford the medical insurance protection they need. We have come a long ways in this field since before the war. We still have a long ways to go.

THE BUMPER-NUDGER

Among the curious species that inhabit the highways, one of the most irksome is the impetuous fellow constantly on the verge of nudging one's rear bumper. At best, such behavior lacerates the nerves of the driver ahead. At worst, it can lead to a terrible smashup.

The bumper-nudger is a fellow who can't stand to be behind another car. He wants to go around and be out ahead, driving at his own speed. When traffic is too heavy to permit that immediately, he is not mature enough to keep a reasonable distance and wait for a chance to pass. He edges up close and takes a chance of winding up in the trunk of the car ahead if it should have to stop abruptly.

This is childish behavior. It shows a lack of discipline, not to mention a lack of consideration for those in the car ahead. The bumper-nudger, however skillful he may be at handling his car, is a poor driver. The old rule about staying a car length behind for every 10 miles of speed is still an excellent one. If everyone would adhere to that rule, the number of pileups might be greatly reduced.

ASTRAL MATHEMATICS

While ordinary mortals develop headaches and frustration working on the simplest mundane mathematical problems, astronomers are busy correcting a possible error of long standing about our galaxy, an array of 100 billion stars.

Six of these learned specialists in affairs of the limitless spaces discussed the subject at the 97th meeting of the American Astronomical Society at Harvard. They revealed that the galaxy may be 25 per cent larger than previously calculated. The magnitude of this computation becomes evident when we are told that our solar system is tucked away at a remote spot in one of the galaxy's spiral arms.

It is a vast subject, one that average people can only contemplate with awe and scant understanding. They have reason to envy astronomers whose knowledge enables them to explore far beyond this one tiny portion of God's boundless domain.

HAS MARRIAGE MEANING?

It is sad to see a young life almost suicidally destroy itself in riotous exercises, but that seemed to be the desire and fate of the Marquis Alfonso de Portago, only 28. He was rich when most Spanish grandees are poor because his mother inherited an American business and American dollars and he used his opportunities to hasten his death and to make a public demonstration of his relations with beautiful women. Both were undoubtedly compulsions to exhibitionism which is a problem in psychiatry rather than sport.

It is not this, however, that has won him so much publicity after he was killed in an automobile race. It was rather that marriage seems to so many in this era to be a temporary and unimportant institution and that the invasion of a marriage, satisfactory or otherwise, by a third party receives an accolade by public curiosity and is given front-page billings as though it were a decency.

De Portago, for better or for worse, was married and the father of two children. Apparently, he also publicly associated with two other women in such an overt manner as to attract unusual attention. One of these women is Miss Linda Christian, a movie actress who once was married to Tyrone Power. Miss Christian made a demonstration of her affection and intimacy during the automobile race and subsequent to De Portago's death, even contending that it had been the intention of De Portago to marry her which he could not have done as a Spaniard and a Roman Catholic as long as he had a wife. A euphemism is often employed in newspapers to describe these intricate human relationships, namely, the phrase "great, good friend." In another era, the terminology did not imply social acceptance.

Translated into literal English, Miss Christian's publicized statements would give the impression of a polygamous marriage which is quite forbidden by church and state. The public was not horrified by this reversion to paganism but rather revelled in the spicier accounts of De Portago's misbehavior as it has for years done over all such affairs, this being an era when conventional morals are relegated to the Victorian Era of the 19th Century together with sound money, the gold standard and duty to God and country.

Never having seen or met Miss Christian either in life or on the screen, I can have no comment on the lady personally, but as a sociological phenomenon, she represents a generation more correctly than we old fogies do who manage to live out our lives with each other to celebrate a silver or even a golden wedding—not over-pious or obviously virtuous—yet not kissing with dramatized gestures that are so photogenic, the headgear of another woman's husband who was killed in an automobile race. The dead belong to their kinfolk before whom the sinful stranger retreats in shame, or so it used to be when marriage was respected as a sacrament and not as an introduction to divorce.

Maybe this is more a problem for Billy Graham than it is for me, but what so many older folks seem not to know yet is that some of their children think that exhibitionistic immorality is corny. That is exactly what the mid-Victorians thought of it, although we now call them hypocrites, saying that they did behind closed doors what so many enlightened exhibitionists do in the open. But then, that is what doors were made for—to be closed, to keep out drafts and peeping eyes.

And that is why so many youngsters make snide remarks about the conduct of some oldsters who act like peasants behind a barn door, but always with a photographer around to record the event for history, which does not really care. The movie industry once cleansed itself of this sort of thing, but as business went bad, it seems to have reverted to the kind of publicity which in the 1920's brought business. Those engaged in such rubbish ought to realize that this is 1957 and young people have been to two wars and face tough responsibilities.

De Portago is dead and there will probably be more to do about him, but what we ought to find out is what is happening to the institution of marriage, the cornerstone of the family system upon which our particular civilization rests. That is more important.

HAY FEVER

Only a hay fever sufferer can really appreciate what another patient with hay fever is going through and realize that it is no laughing matter. Hay fever is serious. It frequently leads to hearing difficulties, and about one-third of the sufferers develop asthma, the most important and most feared complication.

Nine or ten million people in the United States and Canada suffer from it yearly with running or stuffed up noses, irritated and inflamed eyes, sneezing and itchy throat. Many have uncomfortable days and sleepless nights. The majority start their hay fever in childhood, and when the fall school season begins, they are usually at their worst. They may lose days from school at a most important time or else go into their new classrooms and meet their new classmates feeling and looking "awful."

Hay fever is caused by a variety of pollen. In the Midwest and East the most severe and most common type is produced mostly by ragweed, from about the middle of August till the end of September. The summer hay fever, called by some "rose fever," is caused by grasses such as timothy and June grass. The spring hay fever (April and May) is caused by common shade trees. Many flowers and plants, such as goldenrod, roses and garden flowers, are not hay fever plants because their pollen is carried by insects rather than by the wind.

Skin tests, to find out the offending pollen or other substance, show a great deal of accuracy in seasonal hay fever—up to 95 per cent. In the nonseasonal cases in children, skin tests will show significant findings in about three-quarters.

The mildest cases may be relieved with drugs such as antihistamines and others by the more severe cases require "shots." This consists of injections, in gradually increasing strengths, of solutions of the substances which cause the allergy. In time the child gains a resistance to this substance so that his hay fever is decreased or eliminated. The treatment can be given before the season as it is in most cases, or spread over the year.

The majority obtain relief, some more complete than others. After several years it is possible for some children to discontinue treatment with lasting benefit for one or several years. Some patients must continue treatment more or less indefinitely. It must be remembered that about one-third of untreated hay fever sufferers develop asthma. Since the injection method is most effective in preventing this asthma, the effort is worthwhile. Although a temporary reaction may result occasionally, in experienced hands such treatment is quite safe.

The child with hay fever should be kept from weedy lots and should not be taken for long rides in the country. Hay rides, straw, barns or being around the farm are bad exposures for the child who is sensitive to molds. Room filters and air conditioners may help some.

"Here's a Real Rough Battle, Monty---"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — Announcement that U. S. Matador guided missiles are now in position on Formosa for the defense of that island has loosed a new Chinese Communist propaganda drive.

Its purpose is to accuse the United States of preparing an atomic attack against the Chinese mainland.

The fact of the matter is that stationing U. S. Air Force guided missile units on Formosa is intended solely to deter the Red Chinese from making any attempts to take the island by force. This is why the move was made public and not kept as a military secret.

Red China's own aggressive moves in this area have not been so well publicized. The Communist military build-up on the mountainous, desolate coast around Amoy, opposite Formosa, has been continuous since the Korean shooting stopped.

JUST A FEW days after the Matador announcement was made the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa announced that 600 rounds of heavy artillery had been fired on the coastal islands of Quemoy and Matsu in the heaviest gun battle of the year.

If the Red Chinese should launch an all-out attack, the Matador is an almost perfect answer. It has a jet engine giving it a speed of over 600 miles an hour. Its range is 600 miles. From Formosa to the mainland is 100 miles.

So if the Reds want to start anything from their bases within 500 miles of the coast, the Matador with an atomic warhead could knock them out in an hour's time.

THE DECISION to base Matadors on Formosa was made after long and careful consideration of what the psychological warfare effects of such a counterattack might be.

A clue to this is found in Philip Wylie's latest book, "The Innocent Ambassadors."

Before he left for the Far East Author Wylie was called to Washington. He was asked to sound out what Oriental public opinion would be if the U. S. should use atomic weapons again—this time against Chinese mainland military targets.

It was admitted at the start that such an attack would not be another Hiroshima or Nagasaki attack on a city. Still, a lot of people might get killed.

Wylie made his own poll among American and Europeans he met in the Orient. Among these, he reports: "All but one—an English editor—agreed and could not be shaken from the opinion that any such assault by this nation would cost the free world the last shred of a diminishing sympathy in the Orient and all Asia.

"THE ENGLISHMAN thought that . . . the Red Chinese, though doubtless at first enraged, would ultimately react with respect for the Atomic Tiger—and a new hope for their own liberation. That was also the view taken at home by a few self-styled 'old China hands.'"

But Wylie concludes that: "When we left Hong Kong, I was certain it was a mistaken view."

Wylie explains that, "My question, of course always assumed that the U. S. A. first used such weapons. For no one would deny America the military right to reply with nuclear weapons to nuclear attack.

"But we Americans are prone to disregard the simple fact that the U. S. A. has already once atomically assaulted a nation. . . . A second nuclear holocaust deemed unprovoked would certify to the world that the ethics and humanitarianism of Washington were lower than Moscow's."

President Held Unruffled And Confident on Budget

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 23—Unruffled by the storms of criticism that have been raging around him because of the size of the Federal budget in a growing nation, President Eisenhower exudes the confidence of a man who feels he will be proved right and that the country will support his views.

Any one who observed the President at his press conference yesterday, noting the frankness of his answers to questions, his intimate knowledge of the many topics brought up by the newsmen and his conciliatory and distinctly tolerant attitude toward his critics and opponents, must have come away with a feeling that here is a personality with the patience and calmness of a Job.

There are those who would have the President enter the lists and swing out boldly against this or that opponent inside or outside its own party. There are those who advise him to use all the arts of the demagogue in his battle with Congress. And there are those who have been saying that his television addresses wouldn't be convincing because of their restraint and forbearance.

Unlike Other Leaders

But how is public opinion formed in America—is it changed over night by a single speech? Or does it take time for ideas to sink in and for neighbors to talk to neighbors and come to conclusions—perhaps not in time for the editions going to press the day after a Presidential address on television, but in due course?

The President is a rare personality in American history. He is unlike any other man who has ever been in the White House. He can take all sorts of criticism and can objectively consider the good and disregard the abuse and the emotionally extreme. Some of his comments are reminiscent of Lincoln's phrase: "With malice toward none."

The reporters, for instance, asked him why he didn't go after those in his party who disagreed. He replied: "I have no right and no desire to punish anybody. I am committed to the support of people who believe, as I do, that the Republican platform of 1956 must be our political doctrine."

Unfortunately, many of the critics haven't read the 1956 Republican platform lately. They would find, if they did so, that it says plainly that "further reductions in government spending" are to be obtained but "without weakening the support of a superior defense program or depreciating the quality of essential services of government to our people."

Criticism Widespread

The same platform pledged tax reductions, but only "in so far as consistent with a balanced budget" and the necessity for a "gradual reduction of the national debt."

Yet, less than seven months after Mr. Eisenhower was elected by an overwhelming vote, there are people who say he has repudiated his platform. Criticism of this sort has attained a nation-wide momentum, along with a whispering campaign that the President really isn't in good health or that he isn't up to the job or is relaxing and doesn't care to fulfill his responsibilities.

How little those who spread such unfounded gossip really know about the infatigable labors of Dwight Eisenhower! At the press conference this week a reporter asked if the President had been "filled in" on the case of the American soldier who is accused of killing a Japanese woman.

"You have used a strange word—'filled in,'" remarked the President rather ruefully. "I have been talked to about it at very great length and both the State Department and the Defense Department are working on it very hard so that we keep our international agreements, but that we make certain that no injustice is done to any American."

Works Away From Office

Back of that comment was the story of a long conference with the secretary of the army and then a long talk with the secretary of state—neither of which conference was reported in the press. Not much is known by the outside world of the many hours that the President works away from the office, in the living rooms of the White House.

The President is in good health, his mind is lively and alert, and his interest in his duties is as sincere and faithful as the day he first donned the uniform of a soldier.

The persistently adverse propaganda about the President is hard to understand in view of the presence of thousands of alert reporters in Washington who can dispel such misinformation as has been spread by unfriendly critics in the political world.

But the tide is turning. The initial response from the second television address has been overwhelmingly favorable. The President is relying on the simple theory that common sense and facts will win the case in the court of public opinion.

To quote a Kipling poem, Dwight Eisenhower may find that "if you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you," and if you can "be lied about" yet "don't deal in lies," or "being hated, don't give way to hating," the goal—in this case the support of the country—will be achieved.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, May 23 (AP)—About this time every year the ordinary citizen can get pretty confused as to just what is happening to the tax money he sends to Washington.

Figures Don't Jibe

The big economy drive now on in Congress makes it still harder today to tell. But even without that the figures don't seem to jibe.

The President's budget requests are for one figure. Authorizations for spending now being made by the Congress appear to be adding up to another figure. Appropriations of the money to back these authorizations add up to still another and a lower one.

What the U. S. Treasury actually takes in and puts out is something else again, and seems likely to be higher than any of the others.

It takes a trained accountant to understand the government's books on all this.

Into this complicated scene steps the staff of tax experts for the House of Representatives. They say that even if the economy drive sticks, what is actually to be spent is going to be about 600 million dollars more than budgeted for the fiscal year ending in some five weeks, and to around 1¼ billion dollars more than the President asks for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Can't Chart Spending

The experts say higher prices will account for some of the rise in spending beyond the budget figures. Some spending can't be charted—such as farm price support outlays, depending upon the weather and the planting plan of farmers. Also a federal highway program isn't in the budget. Nor is the money the treasury will put out for old-age pensions, which are financed outside the budget.

There is also a lot of money around that was appropriated by former Congresses, which the treasury can be called upon to spend. And if interest rates go higher, and the treasury must borrow more to meet its bills, the higher interest costs will be another drag.

Tax Take Unsettled

If this isn't confusing enough, there are also guesses as to what the U. S. Treasury will take in as taxes.

Reports for the first three months of this year indicate there should be higher total corporate earnings to tax — and Congress has extended the Korean war emergency rate of 52 per cent. Higher personal income subject to taxation is also indicated—with the tax rate on these still being debated in Congress.

But the House tax experts say government spending is rising faster than taxable incomes, so the treasury surplus may be cut by 500 million dollars below the January estimate of 1¾ billion dollars. (Some in the administration fear the drop may be even more and now think that one billion dollars will be closer to the figure.)

Treasury revenues in the next fiscal year depend on a lot of chickens that can't be counted safely yet.

Surplus May Be Short

The House tax experts think the treasury should take in a little more than 74¼ billion dollars in the next fiscal year, or 700 million dollars more than the earlier administration estimate of a bit more than 73½ billion dollars. But if the House experts are right and spending rises to 73 billion dollars, instead of the 71¾ billion the President has asked, the treasury surplus would fall 500 million dollars short of his budget estimate.

Lost in all these conflicting figures and different ways of keeping Uncle Sam's books? A critic here and there thinks the old gentleman might be, too.

France Suspends Tunisia Aid for Revolt Support

Paris, May 23 (AP)—France has suspended all financial aid to Tunisia because of the open support in that former French protectorate for the rebellion in Algeria.

A government announcement last night said Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Faure had notified the Tunisian ambassador two days ago the promised aid would be blocked.

France had planned to extend 12,100,000,000 francs ($34,500,000) in credit to Tunisia for 1956-57. The first installment was to have been furnished this week.

The money was to help shore up the economy of Tunisia. But the French delayed following through to pressure the Tunisians into ending their backing for the Algerians.

Popular backing for the Algerian Nationalists is so widespread in Tunisia that Premier Habib Bourguiba would have difficulty suppressing it—if he wanted to. The Tunisians, Arab blood brothers of the Algerians, gained their independence from France only little more than a year ago.

The Algerians have found "unofficial" refuge and medical aid across the Tunisian frontier. Highly placed figures in the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) operate freely in Tunis.

2 Children Die In Refrigerator

Campbell, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Two young sisters suffocated inside an abandoned refrigerator yesterday when the door apparently swung shut while they were playing.

The victims, Kathleen, 6, and Margie, 4, were two of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taft.

The refrigerator had been left on the patio of the Taft's farm home near this southwestern New York community.

Police said the children evidently had been locked in the box for about an hour. They said the interior showed signs of their struggle to free themselves.

Former Upstate Publisher, 79, Dies

Wayland, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Funeral services will be held Saturday for Jesse E. Barber, 79, former publisher of the weekly Wayland Register, who died at his home unexpectedly yesterday.

Barber purchased the Steuben county newspaper in 1913 and published it until 1940 when he sold it upon his retirement.

He served six one-year terms as Republican mayor here from 1916 to 1922.

Barber was a former president of the Western New York Press Assn. and a member of the National and New York State Press Associations.

Atomic Test Is Off Again

Atomic Test Site, Nev., May 23 (AP)—High winds have caused the postponement for the eighth straight day of the opening shot in the summer-long atomic test series.

The delay was announced shortly before midnight after weather experts once again declined to take a chance on the turbulent upper air.

Heck Not Sure Yet About 1958, Hits at Harriman

Binghamton, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck says it may be nearly a year before he will announce whether he intends to seek the Republican nomination for governor in 1958.

The Schenectady Republican told a news conference yesterday that any announcement would have to wait until he sees "what the 1958 (legislative) session brings forth."

Heck and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo are considered among the leading candidates for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

In a speech at a Republican dinner in nearby Johnson City last night, Heck described the Democratic administration of Gov. Harriman as one of "political incapacity, obtuseness, inconsistency, paradox, simple indiscretions and imprudence."

Heck also criticized the governor for not directing his acting investigation commissioner, Albert Reuter, to testify in the legislative watchdog committee's investigation of the Joseph (Socks) Lanza parole scandal.

Harriman has called for public hearings on other matters, Heck said.

Reuter and the committee are making separate inquiries to determine whether a political fix was involved in freeing Lanza, a convicted labor racketeer, from a parole violation charge last February. Lanza now is back in prison.

Now See, Officer!

Eureka, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Highway Patrolman James Greenlaw, investigating a report of a minor, no injury accident, asked Mrs. Bertha Orcutt for her driver's license. "Oh, I left that at home," she said, "but I can get it for you." He said that wasn't necessary right now, but asked when she was born. "1854," said the short, gray-haired lady. "1854" exclaimed the patrolman. "That's what I said." "But that would make you 103. You don't look more than 70 or 75." "If I were only 75, I'd be delighted to say so young man," Mrs. Orcutt said. "It's still nice to hear it. No matter how old a woman gets she still has her pride." Her car had a bent fender, the result of a two-foot drop down an embankment.

Report Ave May Seek Senate Seat Gaining Headway

By CHARLES DUMAS

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Persistent reports that Gov. Harriman might run for the U. S. Senate next year instead of seeking re-election as governor appear to be gaining headway in Albany.

Harriman has spared no adjectives in denying this recurring rumor, which his aides claim was started by the Republicans.

Levitt Weighs Chances

But, despite the vigor of his protests, the prospect seems to have gained some measure of credence even in high Democratic circles.

At the very least, the reports have started some people to thinking seriously about the chance that Harriman might pull a switch.

For example, it is understood that State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has begun to weigh his own potentialities, in the event Harriman steps aside.

Levitt maintains publicly that he is content in his present job. But it is known that he has ambitions for higher office.

Why should Harriman want to run for the Senate?

GOP State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, who has been speculating publicly on the possibility, says the reason is Harriman's continuing interest in foreign affairs.

Held Vital Posts

Harriman held important posts on the international level in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Morhouse says it seems to him quite logical that Harriman would try to pursue that interest in the Senate.

It also has been suggested in other quarters that the governor and his wife, a socially gregarious couple, might miss the Washington scene they knew so well for so many years.

Harriman's press secretary, Charles Van Devander, said there was "absolutely no truth" to the Senate candidacy reports. Van Devander said he thought Morhouse was promoting them "for some unknown reason."

Morhouse in turn denied that he was "promoting" anything of that nature.

Causing Concern

"Anything I have said I have said openly," he asserted. "It is my own speculation."

Speculation or not, it appears to be catching on and is causing the Harriman camp some concern.

"If you ask me," one Harriman aide said, "I think it's just a Republican attempt to break up Democratic unity."

The prospect of a Harriman Senate candidacy does appear slim at this stage. But it does raise an intriguing possibility—a rematch with U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, who has indicated he will run again.

New York has seldom seen a closer statewide race than Harriman's hairbreadth, 11,000-vote victory over Ives in the 1954 gubernatorial election.

Missions Active

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—Nine Lutheran church bodies and two church-related agencies in North America sent 233 missionaries to mission fields in 17 countries during 1956. Dr. Andrew S. Burgess, professor of missions at Luther Theological Seminary here, who compiled the statistics, said the total number of Lutheran missionaries from America now serving abroad totals 1,623.

Opening Bid Locates Cards

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West opened the queen of diamonds. East won with the ace and shifted to the three of spades. South played the seven. West won with the jack and returned the deuce.

South won this trick with the ace, entered dummy with the six of hearts and trumped a low spade. He returned to dummy with the eight of hearts and ruffed the last spade.

South led his king of diamonds and discarded a club from dummy. He was now ready to attack the club suit. The normal play, if there had been no adverse bidding, would be to play a simple finesse against the jack in the West hand but there had been bidding and South started to reconstruct the East hand.

East had opened one diamond with four points in diamonds, two points in spades and no points in hearts. In order for East to have 11 high card points he would have to hold both the ace and jack of clubs and South decided that East would not have opened without those 11 points. Hence South led a low club from his hand and went up with dummy's queen.

East won with the ace and was end-played. He shot a club right back but South let it run around to dummy's ten.

At another table the team of East and West did not bid at all and West chose to open the nine of clubs. Dummy played the ten East the jack and South the King.

Not only did South hold his club losses to one trick but he was able to discard his seven of spades on dummy's fourth club and make five.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Ham will vie with beef for the shopper's attention in many supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this weekend.

Others Take Over

Rising beef prices have paved the way for other meats to take over the featured spot on the weekly "special" lists. This week it's ham's turn in many places. Turkey and chickens are getting a play in some places, however, and one eastern chain is featuring live lobster at 69 cents a pound. It's a repeat of a successful sale of lobsters at the same price last week.

Most of the beef offered as a special, in fact, is one or another of the various chuck cuts. These less-expensive cuts include roasts, pot roasts and steaks—all from the chuck portions.

Agriculture Department experts expect the total supply of beef in the second half of the year to be smaller than last year, which ordinarily means somewhat higher prices.

Canned Bargains

Housewives can take cheer, however, from reports that vegetable canners' warehouses last month had stocks up 63 per cent over a year earlier. This is expected to mean bargains in canned vegetables in the next month or so.

Among the fresh vegetables, outstanding buys can be had this week among new cabbage from fields in Virginia and North and South Carolina, Boston and Romaine varieties of lettuce, radishes, spinach and Maine potatoes from last fall's big crop.

Beans from southern fields are reported to be a good buy, although showing a wide range of quality and condition. Produce men attribute this to a poor growing season, with too much rain when it wasn't wanted and not enough when it was wanted.

Vegetable Features

Bunched beets, bunched carrots, western (iceberg) lettuce, the first celery from New Jersey fields, new potatoes from the South and the gradually lessening supplies of Idaho potatoes also are rated as good buys.

So are cucumbers, which brings to mind the fact that this week has been designated National Pickle Week. You may not have realized it, but this is the 10th year a week has been set aside for pickles.

Rhubarb, at the height of its season, is rated as an outstanding fruit buy. In the good buy category are Valencia and navel oranges. Grapefruit and increasing supplies of watermelon. The first Texas Beauty plums—yellowish-red, with a green background—also are in the markets, but they're still in the luxury class in most places.

Tornado Proof

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—A University of Michigan researcher says tornado-proof houses can be built for between $50 and $350 above initial construction costs. George W. Reynolds of the university's engineering research institute has been studying tornado scenes since 1949. "Houses can be built to survive most, if not all, such storms," he said. "I have yet to see a single case in which a house bolted to its foundation was destroyed. This is not conclusive proof, of course, but it is suggestive." Reynolds said adequate internal bracing and proper air vents also would cut down damage.

Sam Scudder Is Elected District Rotary Governor

At the closing session of the 48th annual convention of Rotary International in Lucerne, Switzerland, which elected Charles G. Tennent, a horticulturist in Asheville, North Carolina as its president for the 1957-58 fiscal year, Sam Scudder of the Kingston Rotary Club was elected governor of District 721.

Governor Scudder, who will take office July 1, will coordinate the activities of the 33 Rotary Clubs in the district. During the year he will visit each club to offer advice and assistance on Rotary service activities and administration. A past president of Kingston Rotary, Governor Scudder has been a member of the club since 1920.

A continually growing organization, Rotary International now encompasses 99 countries throughout the free world. The 442,000 business and professional executives who are members of more than 9,300 Rotary Clubs work together to advance the Rotary program of community betterment activities, high standards in business and professional life, and the furtherance of international understanding, good will and peace.

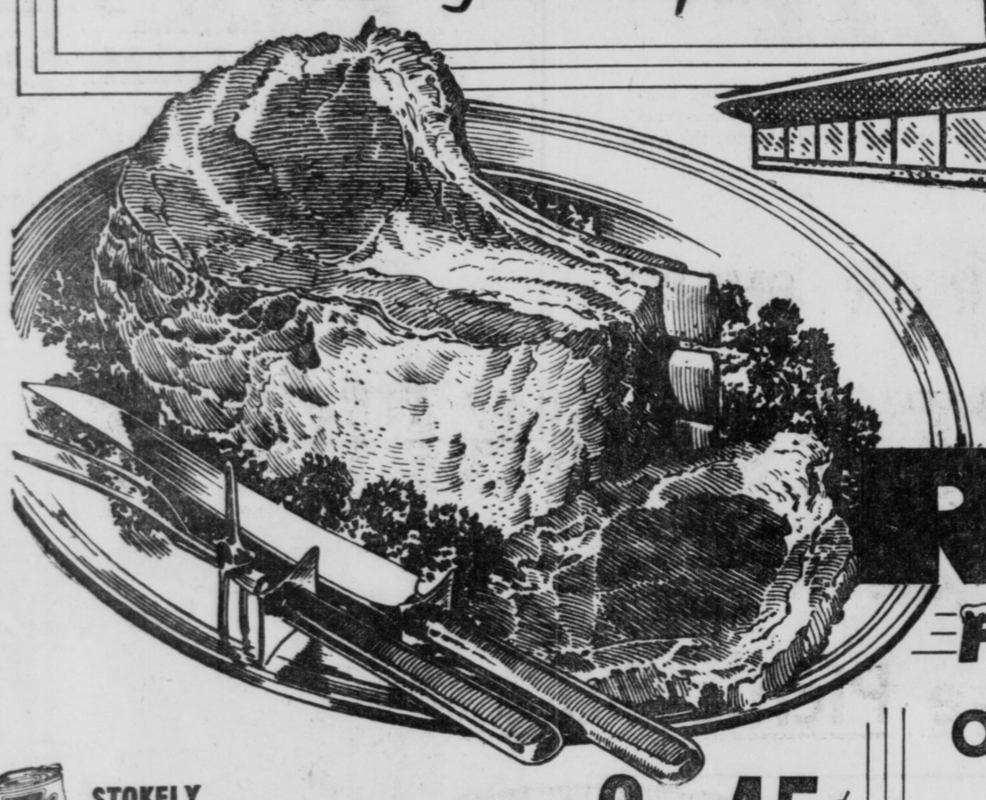

To promote international understanding, Rotary International is now engaged in a worldwide program of Rotary Foundation Fellowships, which provides grants for one year of study abroad, as ambassadors of good will, to outstanding college graduates. In the past 11 years, Rotary Fellowships have been awarded to 954 young men and women from 61 countries for study in 42 countries. Grants average $2,500 and total more than $2,250,000.

$300,000 in Back Mail Pay Proposed

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has proposed an increase of $300,000 in back mail pay for Mohawk Airlines of Ithaca, N. Y.

The increase was proposed in "show cause" orders and will become effective if no objection is filed within eight days, the CAB said yesterday. It said the increase would prevent "serious depletion" of working capital.

The board proposed to grant Mohawk's request for $300,000 more than the $1,540,838 paid it between July 1, 1955 and April 30, 1957.

The CAB said the earlier payment, under temporary mail pay rates, had proved inadequate to meet Mohawk's "break-even" needs.

Let Dad Cook Dinner Outdoors on Holiday

OUTDOOR COOKING done by Dad can cut down on work and refrigeration problems on that Memorial Day outing.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Camp and cabin, back yard or patio, wherever the Memorial Day "quickie" vacation takes you, robust special skillet main dishes cut down work and refrigeration problems.

It's all very simple. Ingredients are assorted canned meats and carried in back of the car along with the barbecue grill, skillet and supply of charcoal.

More and more, the men of the family are taking over the outdoor cooking. For beginners, nothing could be easier and surer to be good than these two mantested recipes.

Dad's Skillet Dinner
(8 servings)

One can (12 ounces) luncheon meat, or corned beef, or 2 cans (4 ounces each) Vienna sausage or deviled ham, ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 green pepper, diced; 6 scallions, finely cut; 3 pounds (8 cups) diced, cooked potatoes; 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Cut luncheon meat in strips, or cut corned beef in pieces; reserve. Melt butter in skillet; add green pepper and scallions and cook until tender, but not brown. Add potatoes and meat to skillet; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cook approximately 10 minutes over modern heat or until potatoes are browned on underside. Turn potatoes and cook approximately 10 minutes longer or until heated through.

Campsite Grill
(4 servings)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 medium onion, chopped; ½ cup diced, green pepper, 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, 2 cans (12 ounces each) whole kernel corn, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 can (1 pound) tamales or frankfurters, or 1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat, cut in strips.

Melt butter in skillet. Add onion and green pepper; cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Add tomatoes and corn; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place over medium heat; cook 10 minutes. Place frankfurters, tamales or luncheon meat over top. Cover; cook 10 minutes longer.

COOKOUT DINNER: Tomato or other canned fruit juice, Dad's skillet dish (with meat and vegetables combined), pickles, scallions, olives, buttered rolls, whole fruit, nut cookies, coffee, tea, milk.

Thruway Tolls Up 20 Per Cent

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Toll receipts on the state thruway for the first four months of this year ran almost 20 per cent ahead of the January-April total of 1956.

At the same time, the Thruway Authority reported today, income from restaurant and service-station concessions along the superhighway soared by 70 per cent.

The authority said it took in $1,777,697 in tolls during April to raise the four-month total to $5,792,889. This compares with $1,493,867 in tolls for April, 1956, and a total of $4,859,446 for the first four months last year.

Concession revenue for the January-April period this year was $592,031, compared with $348,972 for the similar period last year.

Search Dense Woods For Syracuse Doctor

Osceola, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—State police and volunteers today searched dense woodlands about 5½ miles north of this Lewis county community for a Syracuse physician, who disappeared while on a fishing trip.

Troopers said Dr. Nicholas Van Lengen, about 71, apparently became separated yesterday from Stanley Keeling of Syracuse, a companion. Keeling returned alone to the camp north of here, where both men had been staying.

Dr. Van Lengen's son, George H., a Syracuse attorney, said his father was in "excellent health."

Presbyterians Score Segregation

Omaha, May 23 (AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., meeting for perhaps the last time in its present capacity, has directed new measures against segregation.

In its final session yesterday the assembly voted unanimous approval of a basic policy statement that racial segregation "takes precedence over other social issues in American life today."

The statement was part of a report by the standing committee on social education and action on the segregation problem. A move on the assembly floor added a reaffirmation of the church's stand against alcoholic beverages.

Discuss Advertising

The committee passed over a suggested stand on advertising of alcoholic beverages on radio and television with the explanation "it does not sufficiently deal with its problems of use of mass media, the moral depth and complexity."

The 169th general assembly, which began meeting here a week ago, voted approval of a merger of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., largest of the nation's Presbyterian denominations, and the smaller United Presbyterian Church.

Would Meet in '58

If the United Church general assembly votes in favor of union at its New Concoed, Ohio, meeting next month, the general assembly of combined church—to be called the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.—will meet at Pittsburgh, Pa., May 27, 1958. It will draw its delegates from more than 3 million members of the two denomonations.

The meeting here, described as producing the least controversy of any assembly in recent years, also voted approval of a five year program to triple its spending in the field of missionaries, church-related colleges, pensions for ministers and their wives and new churches.

High Woods Man Called Suicide

The body of Anton Stoll, 77, of Route 2, Saugerties, who shot himself in the bedroom of his High Woods home, was found by his physician this morning, Kingston state police reported.

Cpl. Edward Shannon and Troopers Patrick Crowley and Roger Lesnewski said Mr. Stoll was found dead by his physician, Dr. Robert McCaig, of Saugerties, after he shot himself through the heart with a .16 gauge shotgun.

Coroner Michael Galietta issued a verdict of death due to suicide as a result of an internal hemorrhage.

Troopers said Mr. Stoll had been despondent over the health and the loss of his wife who died about six months ago.

Coroner Galietta said Mr. Stoll, after shooting himself, picked up the telephone and told the operator he was shot and dying. His physician was notified and found Mr. Stoll dead in his bed.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of the Michael Galietta Funeral Home, were incomplete at press time.

sound policy to suggest this to the town board.

During the meeting several suggestions for "prior" work were made, including a suggestion that sewage and road improvement should come first.

Petitions asking the town board to establish a lighting district within the bounds of the present water district are being prepared and it was stated they would be ready for circulation for signatures in a few days. It is necessary for 51 per cent of the resident property owners to petition the town board before action on establishment of a lighting district can be asked of the town board.

Defense Cuts

problems in that part of the world have not been resolved and by the time our present defense budget has reached Congress, new, difficult situations there or elsewhere in the world could confront us.

"Short of a real improvement in international relations or a disarmament agreement with proper safeguards, I do not see how our basic policy of military strength can safely be changed or that real reductions in our security programs can be made. This is not only my view, but is the unanimous position of the joint chiefs of staff and the secretaries of the military departments."

Confident of Judgment

At the outset of his statement Wilson told the senators he was glad the committee had invited the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, the service secretaries and the members of the joint chiefs to be present so they could answer any questions. Wilson said these are the men "primarily responsible" for the preparation and execution of the military programs reflected in the fiscal 1958 budget. Then he added:

"I have the utmost confidence in their loyalty, their integrity and their judgment."

Wilson told the committee that, as is always the case, facts have been developed since the budget requests were worked out indicating the possibility of minor adjustments in the numerous activities proposed.

To Press for Savings

Wilson said his department will continue to press for further savings, but went on:

"I believe we will be fortunate indeed if the savings we can make during fiscal year 1958 will offset the added costs that are likely to be incurred in carrying out the military programs that are essential for the security of the country."

Wilson repeated what he said last week at a news conference—that rising costs account for much of the increase in military expense.

Major U. S. . . .

others, if they are reasonable, logical men to meet us half way so that we can make these agreements."

Inspection Vital

He agreed with Radford that Russia has a history of breaking agreements and that this country must be especially careful. He said any agreement must include a system of inspection "in which we can have confidence," but added:

"We must, at the same time, though, keep our minds open and keep exploring . . . every facet of this whole great field, to see if something can't be done. It just has to be done in the interest of the United States."

Humphrey said the disarmament subcommittee and Senate leaders would be briefed on all proposals advanced at the London conference before Stassen's return.

"The fact that the cold war has not lessened in recent weeks indicates that the pace of armament competition itself must be the explanation for the new disposition to negotiate," he said in a statement announcing the meeting.

He said the committee will be briefed on "(1) the genuine prospects for a limited and experimental agreement; (2) the possibility of reaching a mutually acceptable delineation of a test tube area for open skies inspection; (3) the possibility for token mutual troop withdrawals in central Europe; and (4) the prospects for any limitation on nuclear weapons tests."

C of C Seeks . . .

if better or additional service were available.

A spokesman frankly stated that unless there is a genuine demand for train service from persons who have a need for such service, the committee has no logical and sound reasons for seeking better service.

It was pointed out during the discussion at the meeting of the joint committees last night that excellent express bus service is now available between Kingston and New York city. Some interest was shown in the possibilities of persons on the East side of the Hudson River coming over to Kingston to use the two-hour express bus service to and from New York city.

Any suggestions area residents may have as to the need for better transportation facilities or service would be welcomed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Rochester Man Heads State Hospital Group

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23 (AP)—Lawrence J. Bradley of Rochester, N. Y., was elected president yesterday of the State Hospital Assn. of New York.

He succeeded Dr. Ambrose P. Merrill of New York city.

Other officers elected were: Theodore F. Childs of New York city, first vice president; Carlton B. Shannon of Watertown, second vice president; and Alex E. Norton of New Rochelle, secretary.

Moir P. Tanner of Buffalo was re-elected treasurer.

Trustees chosen were: Alvin J. Binkert and the Rev. Patrick J. Frawley, both of New York city, and Harry C. F. Gifford of Glen Cove.

The association met in conjunction with the convention of the Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly.

Ave Urges . . .

Harriman charged Republican officials with "careless regard for the public interest" in exempting gas transmission utilities from all but "minor" costs involved in the relocation of pipe lines.

The pipeline issue in this area has arisen in connection with the construction of the Cross-Westchester Expressway, which will involve $1,197,000 for relocating the lines of the local Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

Under contracts between the gas firm and the county, the company is required to pay only the first $10,000 of the cost of moving its pipes when they are in the way of public improvements.

Harriman told some 700 dinner guests that what he called the "blunder" in the contracts was in no way minimized by the fact that most of the relocation costs would be paid with federal funds.

The dinner honored William F. Luddy, the new county chairman.

Power Lines Out

Hill county Sheriff Ernest Brooks said the twister smashed power lines, knocked over trees and destroyed or damaged cars, outbuildings, and barns when it swooped down on the cluster of homes on State Highway 171 three miles north of Malone. The town itself was not hit.

Torrential rains during the storm measured more than three inches. Farm roads 308 and 744 were closed by highwater near Malone when Ash creek overran its banks.

Other twisters were sighted aloft 10 miles southwest of Hubbard, a town some three or four miles southeast of Malone, and 15 miles west of Prairie Hill near Dallas, two miles east of McKinney in north Texas and a mile south of Vernon in the northwest part of the state. No damage was reported.

Heavy rain storms were reported across north central and northeast Texas in an area placed under a severe weather forecast, calling for possible isolated tornadoes.

Backing Grows

States has collective defense arrangements.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, told a reporter Eisenhower "laid it on the line" Tuesday night and "didn't hurt his cause in the economic field."

Promises Cuts

He said, however, that Congress will make further cuts, but "none so great as will cripple the program."

In a statement, Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.) pledged his full support for the foreign aid program, and said "I only hope that similar support will be forthcoming from members of the President's own party."

Humphrey, a member of the foreign relations committee, stated:

"The very moment when the Soviets are expanding their foreign economic programs is hardly time for our own foreign economic policies to contract."

Kent Purchases

reduce stock before opening in the new location. It is expected alterations will be completed and the new store occupied during the latter part of July.

Included in the alterations will be a new front with a 25-foot glass display window and an additional six-foot glass arcade window and entrance. The entire interior of the store will be renovated, including a new ceiling with concealed lighting system and the latest in store fixtures.

More Display Area

The new store will have 4,000 square feet of which will be devoted to selling area and the balance will be used for service and warehousing. The display area of 2,000 feet will be two and a half times as large as the present 800 square feet now occupied by Kent in the old location.

One of the features of the new store will be Hi-Fi salon, fully carpeted and draped to present the same acoustic qualities found in a home. This will be a new departure in Hi-Fi display for Kingston.

"Increase in business and the need for expansion of facilities to meet this demand prompted us to purchase our own building," Mr. Kent said.

The store vacated by Kent is owned by Philip Zwilling and that store, when vacated by the appliance company, will be occupied by Jack Martin, hair stylist who now is located over the Endicott-Johnson shoe store at 31 North Front street.

Improvements

riage of passengers and goods the most poorly compensated activity in our whole economy."

Perlman sharply criticized the New York State Public Service Commission. The commission recently granted the Central a 15 per cent fare increase on some of its New York city commuter lines. The road had asked for a 32 per cent increase.

Perlman quoted the commission's decision as saying, "it has been generally recognized for many years that railroad passenger business, as presently conducted, has not and cannot be operated at a profit." Perlman hit this phrase.

"We consider ourselves part of the free enterprise, profit system," Perlman said, "and had not realized that the commission had placed us in the category of government subsidized operations like the post office, without the benefits those bodies receive."

Robert R. Young, Central chairman, told the stockholders, "although the railroads look impressive, they are drying up, bound down as they are under an army of legislators, regulators and tax gatherers who pamper our competitors."

Boy, 14, Slays

chael, 12, to safety outside and telephoned to police.

"Send a policeman. My son's shooting everybody,' the father cried.

The first policeman to arrive found that Andrew was still upstairs with the rifle.

Meekly Surrenders

"Throw the gun down, boy," the officer demanded, threatening to shoot if the order was disobeyed.

The boy let the gun fall down the stairs. He then walked down slowly and surrenderd meekly.

Sheila was taken to United Hospital at Port Chester, near this New York city commuter suburb, where she died a short time later.

The father was taken to the hospital about the same time to be treated for his heart attack.

Andrew was taken to the Grasslands Hospital at Valhalla, N. Y., for temporary custody under court order. He was charged with juvenile delinquency. Police said that because of his age this was the only charge that could be lodged.

village. He was promoted to corporal June 1, 1921, and to sergeant Oct. 1, 1921. Sgt. Cunningham retired from the force Oct. 13, 1949.

Surviving are his wife, the former Marie Dargan; a sister, Mrs. James Murry of Montreal, Canada; a twin-brother, also a former sergeant of the state police, John L. Cunningham of Cooperstown.

Funeral arrangements through Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Home, Saugerties will be announced.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 23 (AP)—Prices drifted lower earlier this afternoon as the stock market continued to relax after its recent surge to new 1957 highs.

Pivotal issues were off from fractions to 2 points. There was a scattering of selected gainers.

Volume slipped from yesterday's rate as prices eased. Wall Street observers said this was a favorable sign for an eventual rebound.

Among those at the session in Goshen Tuesday were members of the boards of supervisors of Ulster and Orange counties and of the Sussex County Board of Freeholders.

Norman Kellar, of New Paltz chairman of the Ulster county committee, was named to the general group's executive committee.

Creek Is First

A first phase of the program, it was indicated, would be aimed at control of flow in the Pochuck creek, main tributary of the Wallkill, which rises in lower Orange county, swings into Sussex county, N. J., and back into Orange county where it joins the Wallkill.

The Pochuck project in Orange county would be coordinated with a similar one in New Jersey.

Education Major Concern, Bishop Tells Methodists

Endicott, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Every member of the Methodist Church has the responsibility of supporting good education, a Methodist bishop says.

Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia told the 106th annual meeting of the Wyoming Methodist conference last night that education was "the most vital issue before the American public."

One-sixth of America's three million college students are in Methodist schools, he said.

Bishop Corson, presiding at the meeting, also said there were fewer Protestant church-related colleges in the United States now than in 1900. In the same 57-year period, he said, the Roman Catholic Church had doubled the number of its colleges.

Seventy-one lay delegates and 154 ministers from southern New York and northern Pennsylvania are attending the annual meeting, which continues through Sunday.

Practical Nurses Elect Executive Board

Saranac Lake, N. Y., May 23—Seven new members were elected to the Executive Board of the Practical Nurses of New York, Inc. yesterday.

They were: Mrs. Alice Dukett of Saranac Lake, Mrs. Mary Kochanek of Syracuse, Mrs. Celia Edelstein of Brooklyn, Mrs. Verna Ganley of Oneonta, Mrs. Myrtle Harper of Elmira, Mrs. Mona Eldredge of Rockland county and Mrs. Stella Naiman of New York city.

The group's four-day convention ended today.

The first circulating library in the U. S. was organized in 1731 in Philadelphia. Benjamin Franklin was a customer.

Loses Election

Atlanta, May 23 (AP)—The first Negro to seek an aldermanic post here since reconstruction days lost to a white businessman by a sizable margin in yesterday's runoff election. T. M. Alexander polled 392 fewer votes than he got in the May 8 Democratic primary. Jack Summers received 32,170 votes to 22,455 for Alexander. Gov. Marvin Griffin had endorsed the 52-year-old Summers, expressing concern that Negroes would vote in a bloc for Alexander. Summers did not inject the racial issue into his campaign.

Preparing Figs

When preparing figs for cooking, snip off the ends with the kitchen scissors. To soften figs, allow to stand in boiling water (off the heat) for about 10 minutes, then drain well.

Ike, Adenauer To Confer Sunday

Washington, May 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will have a man-to-man talk at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm next Sunday.

The White House announced yesterday that Adenauer has accepted an invitation to lunch with Eisenhower at the farm a day before the German leader starts three days of talks in Washington. Adenauer is due in New York tomorrow.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President wants to have a private conference with Adenauer in advance of the formal talk. Hagerty recalled that Eisenhower held a similar private talk with Indian Prime Minister Nehru just before last Christmas.

Eisenhower and Adenauer plan to lunch alone and no aides will go to Gettysburg with them, Hagerty said.

Bodies Recovered

Rapid City, S. D., May 23 (AP)—The bodies of two airmen, killed in the crash of their light plane, have been recovered from rugged hill country west of here. The air force identified the pair as Airman 2C Francis W. Hicks, 21, of Saranac Lake, N. Y., and Airman 2C Bernhardt Thompson, 23, of St. Regis, Mont. Hicks was the pilot. The airmen left Rapid City airport Monday to search for a plane missing since May 11 on a flight from Salt Lake City to Rapid City. The bodies of Hicks and Thompson were found Tuesday night by a rancher. The airmen were stationed at Ellsworth Air Force Base.

Woodstock News

By RICHARD E. THIBAULT, JR.

School Concert Is Set May 29-30, 8:15 P.M.

Woodstock, May 23—A "Musical Journey to Europe" is the title of the "educational stage fantasy with music" which Hanus A. Schimmerling wrote for the children of the Woodstock School, to be performed in the school auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday, May 29 and 30, at 8:15 p. m. There is a cast of 28 and a chorus of about 60, all of them students of Woodstock School (grades three to eight); there will be three guest artists: June Pauker of Kingston, soprano and two solo dancers, Briana Gordon and Merrie Kramer. Both performances will be under the direction of Mr. Schimmerling. Stage director will be Mrs. Eda Crist; her daughter, Eda Crist will be the narrator. Other members of the cast are (in order of appearance):

The technical staff includes Allen Waterous, Paul Stolpinski, Don Davis, John Gordon. Stage music will be provided by Jay Gordon and Richard Ostrander. Other important jobs are in the hands of Pat Derry (bookkeeper and librarian), Norma Champanier (assistant conductor and costume manager), Anne Matthews (properties), Jacqueling Majoros, Doris McClellan, Hilda Cohn, Elizabeth Frodsham, Angele Kojac, Ilse Stern, Helen Strickland, Elise Twine, Mildred Wechter (as stage managers, makeup, tickets, program, publicity, etc.).

The story revolves around an American couple, Mr. and Mrs. Geteway (Eddy Varney and Phylis Wechter) who visit Europe and enjoy the life and music in Paris, Rome, Venice, Vienna and other music centers. They attend a performance of Carmen and Tales of Hoffman in the Paris Opera; they enjoy the frolicsome life of the "Latin Quarter."

Crossing the Rhine river, they hear the legends, stories and folklore of Germany. A trip through Thuringia arouses the spirits of Martin Luther, Johann Sebastian Bach and Richard Wagner (the chorus sings excerpts from "Tannhaeuser," from the Saint Matthew's Passion and "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." In Naples they meet Luigi Denza (Funiculi-Funicula) and Eduardo di Capua (Oh Sole Mio). In the Vatican they listen to the Gregorian Chants (performed by the solo voices: Barbara Cohn, Lloyd Gibson, Edith Heckeroth, Suzanne Jurgensen, Debby Leshen, Priscilla Melville, Pat Mower, Frieda Sandner, Marcia Underhill and Marjorie Watson). The Getaways visit La Scala in Milan (Aida) and enjoy the lovely folksongs of Venice, the Queen of the Lagoon. On their way north, they stop in a Slovenian village inn where the peasants present the Slovenian folksong "Behind the Village on the Border." Finally they reach Vienna on the "Blue Danube."

The spirts of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert and Brahms are called back to life by the children's chorus presenting compositions of the great masters of music. But also the gay Vienna of the operetta, the Vienna of Johann Strauss, Kalman, Lehar is depicted in a gathering in one of the famous Viennese wine garden parties. Waltz time is dominating; but also polkas, mazurkas and czardas are performed requested by the present guests from across the border, Czechoslovakia Poland and Hungary.

The story closes with the conclusion on the part of the Getaways that no matter how wonderful this trip was, they are happy to step again on the soil of this blessed land, USA "God Bless America" with other songs of our country are heard and blend with the sounds of trumpets and drums, the grand finale.

Local Folklore Is Available in Book

Woodstock, May 23—The first printing of the first collection of Wodstock Folklore ever published, as told to the late Neva Shultis of Woodstock is now available at the local book stores and news stand. Full of spooks and local color, the volume published by the Woodstock Historical Society, is entitled "From Sunset to Cock's Crow." Copies may also be obtained through Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon, secretary of the society.

Christian Science

Woodstock, May 23 — The spiritual basis of true grace and beauty will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday, at the Woodstock church.

Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" include the following from Psalms (90:16, 17): "Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (247:19-24): "Comeliness and grace are independent of matter. Being possesses its qualities before they are perceived humanly. Beauty is a thing of life, which dwells forever in the eternal Mind and reflects the charms of His goodness in expression, form, outline, and color."

Church Notices

Woodstock, May 23—The Rev. G. Oliver Sands goes back into the Old Testament for his sermon theme for Rogate, the fifth Sunday after Easter, Sunday, May 26, at the 11 a. m. service. Isaiah 55:6-11 provides for text for the sermon, entitled "The Divine Affinity."

The Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. considers "A Man of Peace in a World of Strife," based on the story of Isaac and the wells he dug as told in Genesis 26:17-29.

Young children will be cared for in the parsonage during the chief service.

Beginning about 3:30 p. m. the district Luther League Rally will be held in the Germantown Lutheran Church. The local group will be received into the district at this time.

The Youth choir will conduct the service. The younger children meet for rehearsal on Saturday at 10 a. m.

The builder will deliver the bottom section and place the top on it, for a total cost of about $11,000.

Collections Are Meager During Graham's Rally

New York, May 23 (AP)—If it had to depend on the collection plate, Billy Graham's New York crusade would be running deeply in the red.

The nightly offerings, the way they've been going, wouldn't half foot the bill.

But some well-to-do individual donors are filling in the gap. Even so, backers still have a financial problem on their hands.

Chairman Confident

"But I'm sure we'll be able to handle it," said Roger Hull, New York insurance executive and chairman of the crusade executive committee.

Altogether, counting television plans, the six-weeks crusade is expected to cost about $1,200,000. Graham and his team get nothing but their housing.

At the Madison Square Garden meetings, where no special appeals are made, the swift-paced collections have been bringing in around $7,000 a night.

Taking average attendance, this means the New York audiences have averaged chipping in less than 50 cents apiece.

But this is about what planners expected; they count on such collections to bring in about $300,000 in the six weeks.

That's $600,000 shy of the estimated costs of the crusade itself, including advertising and rental of the Garden and crusade offices.

One Gift $50,000

Of this $600,000 private donations ranging mostly from $100 up to one gift of $50,000 have already brought in a total of just over $400,000, leaving $200,000 to go.

This doesn't include plans for televising the crusade on Saturday nights, beginning June 1, which will cost another $300,000—of which $100,000 so far has been contributed, leaving another $200,000 to go.

"We've still got a financial problem," Hull said. "If everything goes by the book, we've got to raise another $400,000." Asked if he thought it would come in, he said, "I don't think there's any question about it."

Donors Contacted

He said his 20-man New York committee still was busy contacting interested donors here, and that several individuals outside New York city were interested in helping support the TV expenses.

He said names of the donors were confidential. The amount of nightly collections also is not made public, he said, in order to avoid putting emphasis on this aspect of the crusade.

18,500 at Rally

The 500 ushers in the huge arena make quick work of the collections, usually taking about one or two minutes to pass the cardboard buckets (the kind used for chipped ice) along the rows, while organist Paul Mickelson plays. The ushers disappear in a jiffy—and the service goes on.

Graham preached to a capacity house last night—18,500 people, and 587 of them came forward at his call to "accept Christ as Lord and Savior." Such decisions total 5,070 in eight nights.

Flu Toll at 60

Manila, May 23 (AP) — The death toll in the influenza epidemic sweeping the Philippines rose to 60 today but health authorities reported a decline in the number of cases in Manila. Forty-nine of the deaths occurred in the capital and 11 in other provinces. The Manila Health Department said the number of cases in the city dropped from 54,000 to 49,000.

New York City Head Assessor 'Resigns'

New York, May 23 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has accepted the "resignation" of Harvey L. Strelzin, chairman of the City Board of Assessors. Strelzin says he wrote a letter to the mayor merely asking for a leave of absence.

Strelzin has been under investigation concerning a private garbage hauling firm in which he has a 25 per cent interest. One of the founders of the carting company was racketeer Anthony Ricci.

Wagner announced Strelzin's resignation from his $17,500 a year post yesterday.

Only minutes before the mayors' announcement, Strelzin told a news conference "nobody has requested my resignation—I do not intend to resign."

When that statement was referred to Wagner's secretary, William Peer, the latter said: "The mayor has accepted Mr. Strelzin's resignation."

85,750 Due at Drum

Camp Drum, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—More than 85,750 national guardsmen and army reservists are scheduled to undergo training at this northern New York army reservation between June 22 and August 31, camp officials announced yesterday. They said approximately 75,650 guardsmen and 20,100 reservists will utilize the camp's training facilities during the five, two-week periods.

Oakland, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Dr. Harold G. Trimble, slain chest specialist, left an estate of $350,000, his will showed today. Half goes to his widow; half goes in trust for her and their four children. Saul Sidney Klass is charged with murdering Trimble. He said the doctor raped his wife, indirectly causing her suicide. The Trimble family denies that.

Born in Latvia in 1906, he is now an American citizen and field representative of International Christian Leadership, Inc.

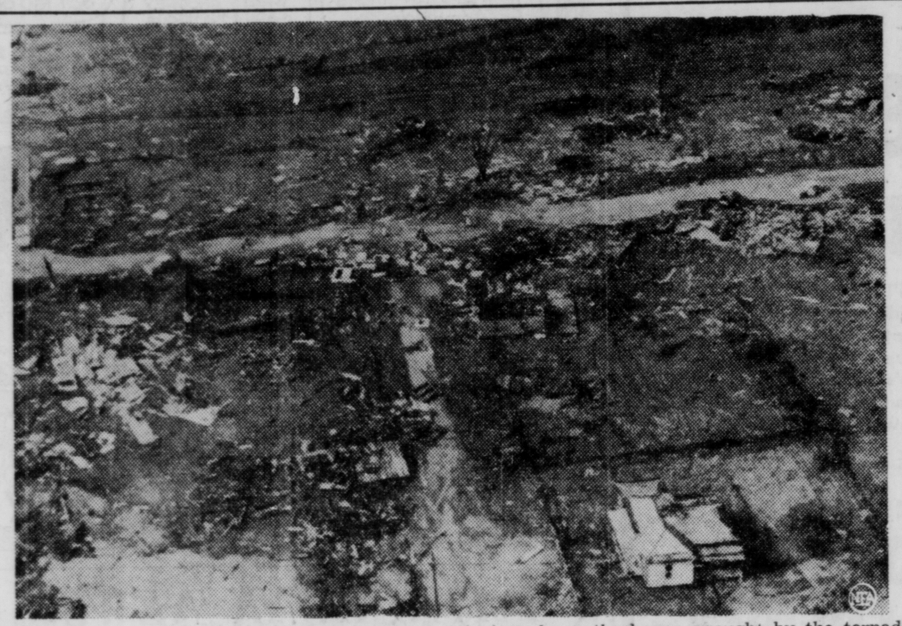

He has spoken to over 1,300 church and civic groups as well as on the radio and television networks. His message will emphasize the role of religion in the crises of human history, according to the Rev. Mr. Messersmith.

UJ Fund Group To Publish Book Listing Donors

At Tuesday night's meeting of the United Jewish Welfare Fund Cabinet group it was unanimously decided to publish a contributors' book for the 1957 United Jewish Welfare fund campaign. It was agreed that the high level of giving achieved during the current campaign would make for a proud document of record. It is anticipated that more than 800 gifts will be received before the conclusion of the campaign during the early part of June.

$30,000 Received

To date more than $30,000 has been received on behalf of the local national and Israeli beneficiaries of the Kingston drive. Continued effort on the part of the solicitors led by Joseph Honig, Richard Kalish, Herman Eaton, Mrs. Harry Spiegel and Isidore Weinstein will produce the pledges and gifts for recording in the new contributors' book.

The cabinet voted to forward $7,500 to the Catskill Area Conference in addition to the $21,500 already advanced by the Kingston United Jewish Welfare Fund for the use of the United Jewish Appeal in the current emergency. "Never before has Kingston Jewry responded so firmly and generously to the appeal of our brethern in other lands," said Chairman Rafalowsky.

It is more significant that total community action is being expressed in connection with the resettlement of 100,000 Jews from North Africa, behind the Iron Curtain and the near East. Since the beginning of 1957 more than 40,000 persons from Egypt, Hungary and Iron Country lands have been resettled in Israel, the United States and member nations of the British Commonwealth, with the assistance of the United Jewish Appeal.

June 2 Conference

Recognition of Kingston's contribution to the current rescue operation will be forthcoming at the Catskill Area Conference to be held at the Grossinger Hotel Sunday, June 2. Members of the campaign workers group for 1957 are reminded to make their reservations by calling the Jewish Community Council office no later than May 24.

'Wildcat' Strike

Mechanicville, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—The West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. plant here, strike-bound for four months last year, was picketed today by workers participating in what their union termed a "wildcat" strike. Picket lines were posted late last night. Workers on the 11 p. m. shift refused to cross them. No violence was reported. When several hundred persons gathered in the street in front of the huge plant, Police Chief Henry C. Arnold dispatched all available policemen to the scene. He also requested reinforcements from the Saratoga county sheriff and the state police.

Dentists Reaffirm Fluoridation View

New York, May 23 (AP)—The Board of Governors of the New York State Dental Society has reaffirmed its endorsement of fluoridation of community water supplies.

The board, in concluding its 89th annual session yesterday, said:

"Exhaustive studies and carefully controlled test programs show beyond reasonable doubt the effectivenuess of fluoridation in reducing dental caries (tooth decay) in children by an average of approximately 60 per cent.

The board said fluoridation also benefits adults.

The Luther League District includes members of the various Luther League young people in the Mid-Hudson valley. The candlelight installation ceremonies will be held during the evening session following the annual election. The Rev. Mr. Messersmith serves as district advisor to the group.

Members of the West Camp group will conduct the devotions at the meeting.

Dr. Karlis Leyasmeyer, European educator, author and editor will be the guest speaker. Dr. Leyasmeyer is a field representative of International Christian Leadership, Inc.

Subtle Approach!

Frontenac, Kan., May 23 (AP)—Supt. John Cornella expected a deluge of complaints when he cut off the water supply for a short time recently to make repairs at the municipal plant. Cornella said yesterday he didn't receive a single telephone call from an unhappy customer but several came in to pay their water bills.

Costello Free, Given Guard

New York, May 23 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello, free in $1,000 bail while appealing a 30-day contempt sentence, has been provided with a two-man police guard.

Costello left Rikers Island yesterday after serving 15 days of his sentence. He was imprisoned May 7 after refusing to tell a grand jury about a reference to "gross casino wins" found on a note in his possession—apparently referring to a $651,284 gambling deal.

The note was found in Costello's pocket after an unidentified assailant grazed his skull with a bullet May 2 as Costello was entering his Central Park West apartment residence.

Says Wage Hike Would Direct Travel to Canada

Watertown, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—An increase in the hourly minimum wage of hotel employes might drive hotel business from New York state to Canada, a north country hotel owner says.

William P. Beach of Alexandria Bay said at a hearing of a state minimum wage board yesterday that other hotel operators in the Alexandria Bay area shared his view. Employe representatives on the board have proposed a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour.

Beach said an increase in the minimum wage would "stilt expansion and development, create unfair and unsatisfactory situations among employes, and drive business out of New York state and into Canada."

Under the present state order, service employes at resorts are paid from $8 a week with meals and lodging to $20 a week, chambermaids from $12 to $24, and non-service employes from $16 to $28. The order is based on a 48-hour week.

Dishpan Hands

Anderson, S. C., May 23 (AP)—The defendant in a non-support case told Circuit Judge J. B. Pruitt yesterday that his wife nagged him about doing housework. "I didn't marry her to wash dishes," protested Andrew McAbee. "I didn't marry to wash dishes either," retorted the judge, "but I do sometimes." McAbee was ordered to pay $60 monthly toward support of his wife and child.

Join SEATO Exercises

Bangkok, May 23 (AP)—British, American, Philippine and New Zealand air force units will join Thai armed forces next week for SEATO exercises in central Thailand. The United States is sending about 8 F100 jet fighters and 3 C119 troop carriers.

Morhouse Sure He Has Men Who Can Win State

Washington, May 23 (AP)—New York's Republican state chairman says any one of a "half-dozen or more excellent men" in his party could defeat Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman in next year's election.

L. Judson Morhouse speaking at a dinner of the New York GOP congressional delegation last night said he was "convinced that the people of the state have had enough of the Democrat governor's bumbling and fumbling attempts as an administrator. They can see that there has been a general deterioration of governmental efficiency under his administration."

Morhouse continued:

"I firmly believe that the Republican party in New York state has a half-dozen or more of excellent men to choose from as candidate for governor, any one of whom could defeat the incumbent governor and return the state to sound principles of government."

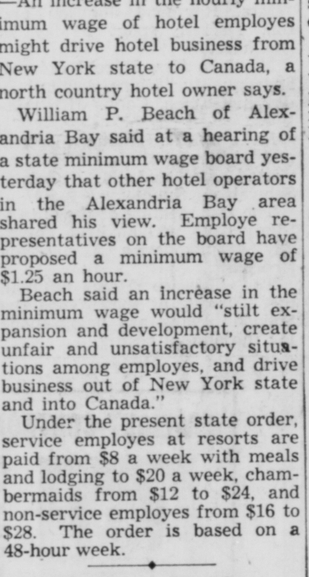

Morhouse said he met with the congressmen to get their views on strengthening the party's position and electing more GOP congressmen from New York next year.

Contract Awarded

New York, May 23 (AP) — A $52,392 contract has been awarded to an Italian firm for structural steel to be used at a substation on the Barnhart Island-Plattsburg transmission line from the St. Lawrence power project. The company, the Societa Anonima Electrificazione of Milan, was announced yesterday as the lowest of five bidders.

Waiting for June

Wichita, Kan., May 23 (AP)—It's been a tough month for Roy C. Ingle, operator of a Wichita service station. Two weeks ago a bandit robbed Ingle of $731. Just two days later, burglars tried to open the station's safe. They failed but wrecked the safe and Ingle had to replace it. Tuesday an employe backed a car out of the station's garage. The car didn't have any brakes. It crashed into a gasoline pump, and the fuel exploded, setting off a fire which did considerable damage before firemen brought it under control.

THE OTHER WOMAN?—This is Sonali Das Gupta, 27, the woman whose name has been romantically linked with Italian film director, Roberto Rossellini. She is the wife of an Indian film director and the mother of two small children. Reports of the romance have ben denied by Rossellini, Sonali herself, and actress Ingrid Bergman, wife of Rosselini. Capital Improvements Urged for Hospitals

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23 (AP)—The nation's private hospitals should put more than 10 billion dollars into capital improvements in the next 20 years, a hospital executive says.

John T. Ryan Jr. of Pittsburgh says that 514 million dollars a year will be needed for improvements to meet increased hospital admissions in the country.

Speaking to the Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly Convention here yesterday, the industrialist and president of the Hospital Council of western Pennsylvania said the current rate of hospital admission is 125.4 per 1,000 persons.

By 1977, he said, that rate will double. Ryan also is president of Pittsburgh Hospital.

It was the ninth annual meeting of the assembly, composed of State Hospital Associations of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

Unlike Song: Wife

Santa Monica, Calif., May 23 (AP)—A song written by Sammy Fain proclaims that "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing." But Jane Fischer proclaims that being married to Sammy is something else again. She won a divorce from the 54-year-old Academy Award-winning songwriter yesterday, claiming he was "insanely jealous without provocation."

Elizabeth Tellier Weds Raymond Meddaugh In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Mary's

Miss Elizabeth Anne Tellier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius T. Tellier of 21 Shufelt street, became the bride of Raymond J. Meddaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Meddaugh of 9 Oakley street, Poughkeepsie, Sunday, May 19 at 2:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Church.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly.

Theodore Riccobono was at the organ and Martin Kelly sang several selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chiffon taffeta fashioned with an Empire lace bodice, long tapered lace sleeves and a square neckline. The bouffant skirt in modified princess fashion swept back into an aisle wide sweep train. A plateau type bridal cap of matching lace edged with seed pearls secured the fingertip French illusion veil.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, white glamelias and ivy.

Mrs. Charles Harding of Hartford, Conn., was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of flower print chiffon, blue and white, styled with a shirred and molded bodice, Sabrina neckline, abbreviated sleeves and a flowing waltz length skirt. She also wore a matching calot with a tulle halo veil. Mrs. Harding carried an old fashioned nosegay of roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Serving as bridemaids were Miss Judith Broskie and Miss Jeanine Pfeiffer. Their gowns were identical in style to that of the honor attendant except in iris and white. They carried nosegays similar to the one carried by Mrs. Harding.

William Meddaugh of 27 Garden street, Hyde Park, was the best man. Serving as ushers were John Manfredi and Bruce Curtiss of Poughkeepsie.

A reception was held at Aiello's Restaurant for approximately 70 guests.

The bride, who is a Kingston High School graduate, is employed by IBM in Kingston.

The bridegroom, a Poughkeepsie High School graduate, served two years with the army and is now employed by IBM in Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a powder blue suit with white hat and navy blue accessories. She also wore a corsage of white roses.

The couple will make their home in Wappingers Falls when they return from their trip.

Extra Homework

Gloversville, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—A high school student charged with speeding was given an extra homework assignment today. When Elizabeth Arnold, 17, of Gloversville, pleaded guilty to driving 43 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, City Judge Thomas M. Persico ordered her to write an essay on "What Traffic Safety Means to Me." Perisco continued the case to June 1, when the assignment is due. The judge said the essay must be between 200 and 30 words.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

SHOWING OFF ONE'S KNOWLEDGE

A reader tells me: "I have a friend who is a college graduate and tries to impress everyone with her knowledge of the English language by using long words when shorter ones would do just as well. I think it is very pretentious and not in good taste. I would very much like your opinion on this."

It is true that shorter words are in best taste, especially those of Saxon origin. This does not mean, however, that one can't use long words, but merely that to reach out for a long word instead of a shorter one, certainly would seem to be showing off.

For Theater Goers

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please say something in your column to the theater goers who go out during intermission for a cigarette and return after the lights have gone out and the performance has resumed. I find this habit most annoying and lacking in consideration for others. Nine times out of ten it is done by people who should know better.

Answer: There is no act that is more inconsiderate than not going back to your seats when you are notified that the curtain is about to go up. It is not only very disagreeable to the people in the audience to have someone stand between you and the stage, but it is very upsetting to the actors.

Does Woman Stand to Acknowledge Introduction?

Dear Mrs. Post: When a middle-aged woman is seated at a party and a woman guest arrives who is a stranger to her and she is brought over and introduced to her, is it necessary that she rise from her chair to acknowledge this introduction?

Answer: It depends on how it happens. If, after being introduced, the lady stands talking to her then she has to rise; but merely bowing to her, she does not have to rise.

When should a gentleman offer his arm to the lady with him? This and many other questions on manners in public are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Reno in 1874. After the Civil War, the general was sent to Oklahoma to head the calvary's forces in Indian Territory.

The event was held at Judie's Restaurant. The table was decorated with a floral display, candles and favors, appropriate for the occasion.

Those attending were the Mmes. Richard Smith, Mildred Wood, Herman Boyle, Irvin Zabel, Ernest Amarello, Helen Buchholtz, Clyde Hornbeck, Gertrude Whitmore, Michael Carpino, John Coffey, Henry Neer, Clifton Quick, James Emmick, Joseph Senor, Charles Benson and the Misses Lillian Mascuch, Ann Goral and Margaret Zeliff.

The wedding will be held in St. Mary's Church.

Mrs. FDR Talk Picketed; Speaks For Israel Bonds

Houston, May 23 (AP) — Seven pickets favoring racial segregation marched outside a Houston hotel last night as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke at a "Bonds for Israel" rally of 500 persons.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she knew about them but she did not otherwise comment.

At a news conference earlier she said President Eisenhower had been "about as aggressive as a little meek rabbit" on civil rights.

Asked about a segregation suit now being tried in Houston, she said:

"I'm not a Texan. I'm not here to tell Texans what to do. Now, if you ask me what I believe—I believe in obeying the law."

Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary received a telegram, addressed to the former first lady, which said:

"Trains and planes are going each way. Goodbye Elinor, you've had your day."

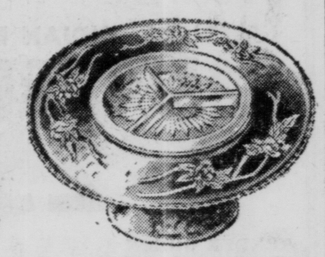

It was signed: "The Texas Citizens' Council."

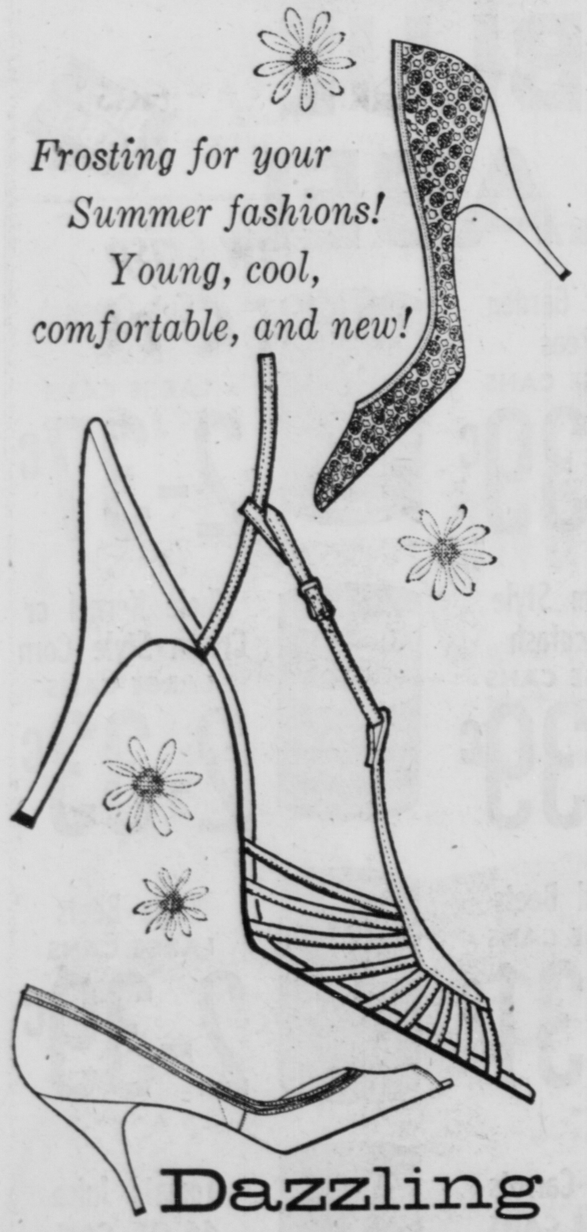

"Faust," adapted by Gounod from Goethe's play, has been performed more times than any other opera.

Sergeant Is Cleared

Taipei, May 23 (AP)—A U. S. Army court-martial today found M/Sgt. Robert G. Reynolds innocent of a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the killing of a Chinese Peeping Tom. Most of the Americans in the courtroom applauded the verdict freeing the 42-year-old soldier from Colora, Md., and Coatesville, Pa. Chinese spectators preserved a frigid silence. The court of five colonels and three master sergeants reached its verdict after deliberating an hour and 35 minutes.

Rochester Town Would Change Name of Road

Residents of the town of Rochester who live on what is known as "Boodle Hole Road" have presented a request to the town board to change the name of the road to Mettacahonts Road, and to have the sign on the highway so indicate.

Several taxpayers of the town were present at the last monthly meeting and complained about the condition of their roads which were damaged from past floods. Highway Superintendent Burton G. Barringer was present at the meeting and stated the condition would be taken care of as soon as possible.

The town board by resolution accepted a deed to the school property in District No. 10, Palentown.

Supervisor Burton H. Marshall reported a balance of $4,319.02 in the general fund and $27,161.96 in the highway fund.

Plans were also discussed for the purchase of a hoist for the town garage.

The next meeting of the town board of Rochester will be held Wednesday, June 12, at 8 p. m.

All members of the town board were present at the May meeting.

Alliance Speaker

Mission Worker To Tell Modern Stone Age Story

The amazing story of the Stone Age people from the valley of a modern day Shangri-la in Dutch New Guinea, will be told by the Rev. Lloyd Van Stone, pioneer missionary, Saturday at 7:45 p. m., at municipal auditorium.

According to the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco, pastor of Christian and Mission Alliance Church, sponsoring the appearance, this will be the first opportunity of Kingston area residents to hear "one of the most thrilling stories of modern missionary adventure among Stone Age tribesmen in the valley that time forgot."

30 Months Adventure

The Rev. Mr. Van Stone, one of the first three missionaries ever to land in this valley and to live among these primitive people will tell of his 30 adventure-packed months among them, the Rev. Mr. Brisco said.

In 1938 Richard Archbold, an American explorer was the first to report that this group of 60,000 to 100,000 Dani people of Stone Age civilization were in the hidden valley called the Baliem. The discovery was made by three survivors of a U. S. Army place crash in 1945. For 50 days newspapers headlined the dramatic rescue of these Army men from this unknown valley.

The Rev. Einar Mickelson of the Christian and Mission Alliance secured permission from the Dutch government to go into the valley although the people were described as crafty, treacherous, cruel and vindictive. Landing in this valley, the Rev. Mr. Van Stone found Stone Age tools and a currency system of cowrie shells. Family life followed ancient patterns. A man could have as many wives as he could support. Wife stealing was common. Fingers and ears were cut off as an expression of mourning. Cannibalism was not uncommon, the Rev. Mr. Brisco said.

According to the Rev. Mr. Brisco, the Danis had no gods, no forms of worship. They feared only "evil spirits" inhabiting the air, trees, rocks. Of all the missionaries' devices for creating confidence and friends in Shangri-La, none was so immediately successful as medicine. There are no doctors and there was no medicine. The Rev. Mr. Van Stone survived five attacks made upon him by natives when stirred by their fear of evil spirits and members of native families had died. Missionaries know that the natives' friendliness cannot be taken for granted, so ingrained is their superstition and so mercurial their temperament.

Blamed for Epidemic

Last November in the Wissel Lakes, New Guinea, a band of Kapaukus blaming the missions at Obana and Enarotali for an epidemic of disease among pigs, descended on the settlements, killing a native pastor, his wife and two children of another worker. They destroyed the mission airplane, burned a school and several mission stations, the Rev. Mr. Brisco said. The Van Stones have undergone several attacks by the natives but are anxious to return to these people after their 15 month furlough in the United States. The Dutch Territorial government, satisfied that the Shangri-La has finally been "pacified" sufficiently for the establishment of a government post in the valley began construction of a 1,500 meter airstrip capable of handling large planes. The government has promised to help subsidize schools and hospitals.

Covered With Pig Blood

Much has happened to the missionaries before these things could come to pass. Mrs. Van Stone had the unusual and unique experience of being covered with pig's blood to establish her as a Dani tribeswoman. The Dutch officials are now lyrical about the missionaries and their work. Dr. Victor de Bruijn, director of the Bureau for Native Affairs for Netherlands New Guinea, said, "Before the boons of civilization can be brought to Stone Age natives, a revolution in their mental attitudes has to be effected. That's what Christian missions are dramatically accomplishing in Shangri-La. These missionaries know far more about this part of New Guinea and its people than does the government. We are glad to follow their lead. We acknowledge with gratitude permission granted by Reader's Digest to use information from the article the 'White Man Comes to Shangri-La' published in February, 1957 and written by Clarence W. Hall," the Rev. Mr. Brisco said.

The service at the auditorium will feature a choir and male chorus under the direction of Evan Lutke. A ladies' trio composed of Mrs. Evan Lutke, Mrs. Robert Moore, and Mrs. Albert Sadler will sing. George Shaver will direct the congregation singing and the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Brisco, will be the chairman for the service.

The public is cordially invited to attend. There is no admission charge, but a free will offering will be taken.

Demand Damages

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The United States demanded today that Russia pay damages of $756,604.09 for shooting down in November, 1954, an air force B29 reconnaissance plane in the vicinity of the Japanese island of Hokkaido. A note delivered to the Foreign Office in Moscow by the U. S. embassy declared that Soviet fighters attacked the P. S. aircraft deliberately in accordance with a plan by "responsible" Soviet authorities to destroy the plane and kill its crew. It said there was no provocation on the part of the U. S. aircraft or crewmen.

Indian Land

Washington, May 23 (AP) — U. S. archives officials delved into their files today to prove the existence of a 161-year-old treaty granting the Seneca Indians exclusive rights to their reservation lands in western New York state. A request to see the old parchment, signed by President George Washington, was made by Cornelius V. Seneca, president of the Seneca nation.

Nurses Complete CD Medical Services Course

Ninteen public health nurses of Ulster county completed the Civil Defense course in emergency medical services for nurses Wednesday in cooperation with the Adult Education Program of Chambers School, town of Ulster.

The nurses who have completed this course are now equipped to instruct corps of Medical Aides, Registered Professional Nurses, and Licenced Practical Nurses throughout the county.

In Support Area

Ulster county will function as a support area for the Metropolitan New York area and in the event of a surprise attack many casualties would be moved into this area. In such an emergency many hundreds of professional medical personnel would be needed and many thousand additional citizens needed in first aid work. Medical Defense can be essential in local emergencies as well as national.

The four-week course was given under the instruction of Mrs. Merrill Yaple, RN, Civil Defense deputy nurse officer of Ulster county. Major H. Edgar Timmerman, director of Civil Defense, congratulated the nurses and pointed to the special need for this specific training in the overall Civil Defense organization.

Those completing the course were: Misses Kathryn Bennett, Ann Cassidy, Florence Ellison, Mary Louise Howard. The Mmes. Rosemary Grimaldi, Ethyl Montafia, Mary O'Neil, Nancy Oppenheimer, Marion Ostrander, Delores Rabbottini, all of Kingston; Mrs. Maria Brokema, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Katharine Davis, Cragsmoor; Miss Agnes Mormile and Mrs. Mescal Hornbeck, Saugerties; Miss Helen Melonson, Milton; Miss Esther Stevens, Stone Ridge and Mrs. Jane Wygant, Marlboro.

Five Evening Courses

The basic First Aid course will take a period of five evening sessions of two hours each. Any group of approximately 20 persons desiring to become a part of this phase of Civil Defense, should contact the nearest public health branch office in their area.

Registered professional nurses and licensed practical nurses should also contact these same branch offices located in Woodstock, Saugerties, Wallkill, Milton, Port Ewen, Highland, Ellenville, Stone Ridge, Allaben, and New Paltz. Local groups interested in the medical program of Civil Defense should contact the local public health office or civil defense headquarters.

Educator Says Stress Is On Human Relations

Cincinnati, May 23 (AP)—Dr. Ashley Montagu of Princeton University told the closing session of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers last night that the traditional "Three Rs" of education are not enough.

"Men must become masters of the fourth R," he said, "which is human relations."

"It is the job of education," he added, "to help humans realize their potentialities for being warm and loving creatures. Fail in this and you have failed in everything."

In an interview earlier in the day, Dr. Montagu said the American educational system produces "an anonymous sea of conformity" in which eccentrics are not tolerated."

Scores Education

He added that in the United States "there are more schools of education, more professors of education and more books on education than in all the rest of the world put together."

"The result has been a great tragedy," he continued. "They have failed lamentably."

Dr. Montagu, who is English-born, said "the English have more democracy and talk less about it. They have far better schools. They have a superior conception of education. Americans have no idea of what education really is."

Shakeup Appears For Army Heads In Argentina

Buenos Aires, May 23 (AP)—President Pedro Aramburu today was reported preparing a sweeping shakeup of his army commands following the ouster and arrest of the commander in chief, Gen. Luis Bussetti.

Bussetti's removal came yesterday after he led a defiant group of army leaders in demanding that Aramburu fire the army minister, Gen. Victor Jaime Majo, who was appointed to that post Monday.

An undetermined number of officers who backed Bussetti also were reported arrested. Bussetti had served as commander in chief six months.

Majo took over Bussetti's post in addition to his own ministerial duties. He scheduled a press conference for late today, and it was believed he would announce additional command changes, possibly including the forced retirement of scores of officers.

The dispute was the third military crisis for Aramburu in three months. The army troubles have been building up since last week when Gen. Arturo Ossorio Arana, one of Aramburu's closest supporters, resigned as army minister. He reportedly stepped out as the result of a feud with Gen. Hector Solanas Pachecho, an influential cavalry general.

Burned to Death

Mahopac, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Stephen Fisher, 38, burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed his bungalow on Crane Road in this Putnam county village. Fisher, employed in an automobile body assemblying plant in North Tarrytown, was divorced and lived alone. His former wife and five children live in Jefferson Valley in Westchester county. Firemen said they believed smoking in bed may have caused the fire.

To Discuss Terms In Albany for N-B Bridge Land

Terms of a contract between the New York State Bridge Authority and the state for acquiring lands needed for the Newburgh-Beacon bridge are due to be discussed in Albany tomorrow.

John S. Stillman, of Cornwall-on-Hudson, the authority's chairman, said yesterday that he expected to reach an agreement with State Budget Director Paul Appleby on terms of the contract, which must be ratified by the state comptroller.

A $1,000,000 loan has been authorized for purchase of rights of way.

An estimated two months will be required for preparation of maps, Stillman said, and when they are finished the authority expects to start purchasing land.

The bridge will span the Hudson as part of a major six-lane route extending from Port Jervis to Danbury, Conn. It will be built north of Newburgh to connect Route 9W and will also join 9-D on the east side of the river.

Twins Separated

Youngstown, Ohio, May 23 (AP)—The Freeman Siamese twins were separated successfully today in a four-hour operation at North Side Hospital here. The hospital announced shortly before 1 p. m. that the twin boys, James Edward and John Nelson, are in "satisfactory" condition. The major part of the operation, the hospital said, was dividing a common liver. The two boys, joined at the abdomen, had separate intestinal tracts and separate gall bladders.

Soviet Steamer Arrives

Naples, May 23 (AP)—The 10,000-ton Soviet steamer Gruzia (Georgia) arrived in Italy today from Greece with 760 Soviet tourists aboard. The passengers included engineers, physicians, newspapermen, artists and others. Half of them left by special train for Rome. The others will tour the Naples area. The ship will sail next Sunday for another Mediterranean harbor to be announced later. Three large groups of Russian tourists visited Italy last year.

AFTER TORNADO ROARED THROUGH—Two rescue workers rest on a fallen timber as a family searches the wreckage of their home after a tornado virtually wiped the town of Freemont, Mo., off the map. At least 58 persons lost their lives in twisters which cut a path of destruction through Missouri and Kansas on May 20 and 21. (NEA Telephoto).

A midget went to a masquerade party dressed as one of King Arthur's knights. He would have looked very much out of place on a regular horse. Even a pony was too big for him. So he hired a St. Bernard for the evening. He was able to ride the dog quite comfortable and the animal didn't seem to mind because the midget was very light and his armor was made of paper.

The party over, the midget remounted his St. Bernard for the trip home. As he passed a lonely farm house he was caught in a sudden thunderstorm. He rode up to the door and asked the farmer to give him shelter until the storm had passed. At first the farmer refused flatly but when he glanced down and saw the St. Bernard he altered his mind.

"Oh, do come in," he urged, "I just can't turn down a knight on a dog like this.

Visit Homestead

Cub Scouts from Den 2, Pack 13 of the P-TA School 7 got their first taste of the Archeologist theme of the Cubbing program in their visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Siemsen in Sawkill this week. The Siemsens have a collection of rocks, fossils, and crystals from all over the United States and Europe. Among the objects of interest to the Cubs were a stone from the grave of Buffalo Bill and numerous arrowheads found in this locality. Mr. Siemsen made a drawing as he explained how the Catskills and Hudson Valley came into being. The final touch to the visit was the showing and explanation of stone in its various stages of formation.

Cub Scouts that made the trip all decked out in their uniform under the guidance of Den Mother Mrs. Edward Safford and Mrs. Margarette Brown were John and Tom Brown, Wayne Cline, Terry Joy, Joel Richardson and Bruce Safford.

Charter Night

At the first picnic meeting of the summer which was held in Lawton Park Pack 13 of the P-TA School 7 was presented its new charter, registration banner and a plaque for achieving Onward for God and Country goals which had been set a year ago.

The opening ceremony was in charge of Bear Cub Bruce Safford. Edward Safford, Kingston District Commissioner, presented the national charter to Institutional Representative James Plunket with comment that the Pack has done a fine job in keeping the four Dens active in all phases of Cubbing for the past year. Past Cub Master Clem Angstrom was then presented a pen desk set as a token of appreciation for his fine leadership from the Cubs and their Den Mothers.

Registration cards were then handed to the following committeemen: Herbert Bates, Philip Toffel, Henry Ronnenberg, Peter Stymfal, John Sheeley, Edward DeTemple and Justin Beck. Cub Master Bernard Orr, his two assistant Cub masters, Robert Meyers Sr., Williard Joy, and Den Mothers, Mrs. Angstrom, Mrs. Safford, Mrs. Storm and Mrs. Beck were also given their cards for the new year. Den Chiefs Andrew Angstrom, Jon Angstrom, John DiMuccio, and Gary Terwilliger called the Cubs from their respective Dens forward for their cards.

While the Cubs under the guidance of the assistant cubmasters indulged in a ball game a parent's business meeting was held in the lodge. Plans for a bus trip to the Educational Building in Albany were formulated to follow through with next month's theme of Cub Scout Archeologists. The June Pack meeting is to be held at Forsyth Park, picnic style. It was announced that the Scout Division of the Memorial Day Parade is to form on Third avenue and there was a discussion as to the feasibility of having a float.

In the final part of the program a Den Chief's Cord was presented to Gary Terwilliger of Den 3. Wayne Terwilliger received a one-year service star. Denner's stripes were awarded Joel Richardson of Den 2 and Bruce Terwilliger of Den 1. New assistant Denners are Frank Hample and John Bohan. Robert Meyers and Gary Wilde earned Wolf silver arrows while Bruce Krom earned a Bear silver arrow. John and Tom Brown were accompanied by their mother in a candle lighting ceremony celebrating their achievement of Lion rank. They each received in addition to their badge a gold and a silver arrow point. The outing was brought to a fitting climax by having Bear Cub Scout Terry Joy lead all the Cubs in a living circle in the Cub Scout Law and Oath.

Baby Buzzer

Richmond, Va. (AP)— A baby specialist here reported that a cause of considerable anxiety among mothers with faulty hearing is that they won't be awakened by baby's crying during the night. The specialist—a woman — suggested a solution and Medical College Research Laboratories produced a gadget to waken the deaf mothers. It's an electronic device that converts the slightest sound from the baby's crib into vibrations which the mother receives from an instrument under her bed pillow. A Service Club which sponsored the development lends the device on request.

Detroit is the French name for Strait—a narrow passageway of water.

Barbershops Will Be Closed on May 27 and 30

Barbershops in the city will be closed Monday and Thursday of next week, it was announced today by Fred Bayone, secretary-treasurer of Local 534, Barber's Union.

Mr. Bayone pointed out that shops were normally closed on Mondays and that Thursday was Memorial Day.

Last year the shops were kept open on Monday of the week in which Memorial Day fell. It was decided at a recent meeting of the local that shops would be closed on both days, however.

Boyer Still Critical Following Car Mishap

James Boyer, Jr., 19, of Poughkeepsie, who was injured in a one-car accident early Monday morning, was still critical this morning at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

The youth reportedly suffered severe lacerations of the head and left ear and internal injuries in the mishap which killed Vincent R. Shanahan, 19, of Poughkeepsie.

Thomas Cook, 19, also of Poughkeepsie, who suffered injuries when the car he was driving went out of control on a Route 9W curve near the village of Marlboro, was reported "fair" by hospital authorities. The other two youths were passengers in the vehicle which plunged down an embankment and crashed into a barn.

Anti-Aircraft Aid

Paoli, Pa., May 23 (AP)—An electronic device that is said to heighten the accuracy and effectiveness of anti-aircraft fire was demonstrated here yesterday. Dubbed "Matabe," the machine was put through its paces for "a select group of military men and some of this nation's leading engineers and scientists," said a statement from the Burroughs Corp., its manufacturer. A high-speed computer, in essence, its name stems from the official military designation, "multi-weapon automatic target and battery evaluator."

Limousine, the fancy automobile, is named for Limousin, a French province south of Paris.

Says Sentiment Is Growing to Repeal U. S. Tax

Rochester, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—T. Coleman Andrews, former director of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service, says that "strong sentiment" for the repeal of the personal income tax is developing rapidly in this country.

"I am not advocating it," Andrews said, "but such a feeling is developing rapidly. People are getting in the mood for tax relief and they'll get it sooner or later."

Calls Tax Unjust

Andrews, a Richmond, Va., banker and 1956 presidential candidate of the Constitution party, spoke yesterday at the closing session of a four-day meeting of the American Trucking Association's National Accounting and Finance Council.

"The income tax is so unjust and oppressive most everybody is trying to beat it," Andrews said. "They look at the evasion of it as having no bearing on moral considerations."

Andrews, who held his government post in President Eisenhower's first term, ran for president last year on a tax reform-state rights ticket.

"Several poltiical leaders in the present revolt against the budget," he said, "say our defeat inspired the present resistance."

GLOBAL MISSILE—The Northrop Snark SM-62, America's first intercontinental guided missile, takes off from its mobile launcher with a powerful assist from its two rocket boosters. The 69-foot Snark, powered by a Pratt and Whitney J-57 turbojet engine, is scheduled for duty with the Strategic Air Command. Coupled with its intercontinental range and accuracy is its ability to carry a nuclear warhead at high sub-sonic speeds and high altitudes.

AF Officer to Make Record Ascent in Sealed Balloon

Alamogordo, N. M., May 23 (AP)—Within the next 48 hours a young air force officer will hang suspended in a sealed capsule 18 miles above the earth—higher than man has ever ascended before by balloon—and remain at that altitude for the longest period in history.

But this extraordinary altitude ascent will only be a final test for the first venture of man into the last tenth of earth's atmosphere for a prolonged stay of 24 hours.

Rise 95,000 Feet

Wind and weather conditions permitting, 31-year-old Air Force Capt. Joseph W. Kittinger will squeeze into a three-foot-wide and seven-foot-tall aluminum capsule Saturday morning and rise to 95,000 feet above Minneapolis, Minn.

Kittinger, assigned to the Holloman Air Development Center's Aero-Medical Laboratories here, will only be testing the equipment for another even higher ascent to be made in early June by Maj. David G. Simons.

Sealed and isloated from humanity except by invisible threads of radio communication, Simons will drift at 110,000 feet—more than 20 miles high—for 24 hours in one of the most grueling tests of human reaction ever devised.

Will Break Records

Both Simons and Kittinger have been months in training for the flight which will break all balloon altitude records.

Guiding genius for "Operation Manhigh" is Col. John P. Stapp, head of Holloman's Aero-Med Labs who himself gained world fame for his high speed sled runs.

Crammed into the pill-shaped mancarrying capsule will be as many metering and monitoring devices as the labs could pack, while cameras, telescopes, and other data-gathering gimmicks of both military and civilian science will stud the exterior.

Riding in the narrow cylindrical capsule, each man will be carried aloft by a specially-designed 200-foot baloon developed by the Winzen Research Co. The baloon is made of polyethelene plastic, 15-thousandths of an inch thick and inflated at maximum with 3 million cubic feet of non-explosive helium.

Gondola Pressurized

Each man will ride a pressure suit and heavy coveralls and the gondola itself will be pressurized.

Apart from the breathtaking altitudes planned, Col. Stapp said here this morning that he considered the flights "much safer than any heavier-than-aircraft flight at half the altitude."

Kittinger will go aloft and will remain up for approximately 12 hours in a final test of the equipment. His 95,000-foot altitude will top the previous world balloon mark made by another air force captain nearly 22 years ago.

At that time, Capts. Orville Anderson and Albert Stevens ascended to 72,394 feet above Rapid City, S. D.

Minneapolis has been chosen for the launch site because of maximum cosmic radiation which will be encountered in a flight there. Launching will probably take place from an abandoned, deep open cut iron mine which provides adequate shelter from surface winds.

To Discuss Merger

Philadelphia, May 23 (AP)—Directors of the Sun Ray Drug Co. take up a proposal to merge with United Cigar-Whelan Stores Corp. today at their annual board meeting. Harry Silk, Sun Ray president, said the merger would involve exchange of approximately two shares of Whelan stock for one share of Sun Ray. But he explained the exact exchange ratio hinges on the book value of the respective stocks at the date set for merger, if approved by both firms.

Ford Sales May Top $3 Billion

Detroit, May 23 (AP)—Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Co., predicted today record dollar sales of more than three billion dollars for the first half of 1957.

He told the second public annual stockholders meeting that passenger car sales in the first four months of this year surpassed those for the corresponding period last year by 14 per cent, despite a three per cent decline for the auto industry as a whole.

"Ford car sales are up 16 per cent, Mercury sales are up 7 per cent, and Lincoln sales are less than 1 per cent below the record first four months of 1956," Ford said.

He said a 2½ per cent increase in Ford truck sales over the first four months of last year "does not reflect fully the important gains made since introduction of 1957 models in February."

"In the three months following introduction," he said, "Ford truck sales jumped up 16 per cent over the corresponding months of 1956, and are 15 per cent higher than the previous three-month introductory record set in 1953."

Regarding dollar sales, Ford said it appears the company's total for the first half of 1957 "will set a new company record, breaking the three billion dollar mark for the first time."

No Agreement Seen

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—Agreement between the Kohler Co. and the United Auto Workers appears no closer today than three years ago when the union went on strike at the Wisconsin plumbingware firm. This was apparent yesterday as company and union representatives wound up another round of hearings before a National Labor Relations Board examiner.

DETERMINED BEAUTY—Intelligence, beauty and determination should prove to be a winning combination for Jeanette Pryor, 17, of Houston, Tex., who dreams of a legal career, even though she is paralyzed from the waist down. Coty May Name Premier Shortly, Then Visit Ike

Paris, May 23 (AP)—President Rene Coty sent out word today he intends to nominate a successor for Premier Guy Mollet within the next 48 hours in an effort to keep his own date with President Eisenhower early next month.

Persons who spoke with the president said Coty hoped for swift solution of France's political crisis so he could arrive on schedule in Washington June 3 for a state visit.

Plane Standing By

But unless Parliament confirms a new premier soon, Coty will be unable to make the trip. He was forced to cancel his sailing on the Idle De France. Instead he ordered a special plane to stand by to fly him to America.

International courtesy requires that Coty let the U. S. government know sometime in advance of his constitutional duties will force him to cancel the trip. For this reason he is pressing the warring French political leaders to give him an answer one way or another in the next few days.

Time Is Essential

If Coty's first choice is unable to secure parliamentary support, there probably won't be time for him to repeat the involved nominating process and still go to Washington.

Officially, Coty still has not accepted the resignation of Mollet's Socialist government, submitted Tuesday after 16 months in office—a postwar record. But the Socialist premier said he was definitely through.

Meetings Underway

Mollet resigned when the National Assembly voted 250-215 against his belt-tightening program to finance the campaign against the Algerian Nationalists. He and his cabinet remain in power on a caretaker basis until a successor government is chosen.

Coty began meeting leaders of the various political parties yesterday.

Speculation on the premier-designate centered on politicians of the center parties—somewhere between the Socialists and the right-of-center independent Republicans whose negative votes helped defeat Mollet.

Tombstone Blaze Causes $100,000 Loss

Tombstone, Ariz., May 23 (AP)—Fire swept through the historic downtown area of Tombstone early today, burning out three buildings dating back to the frontier days and threatening the Tombstone Epitaph and the Crystal Palace saloon.

Asst. Fire Chief Clayton Smith, who also edits the Epitaph, gave a preliminary estimate of loss at about $100,000. No one was hurt and there was no firm indication of the cause of the fire. Smith said it began in a storeroom.

The blaze began at 12:30 a. m. in the Cattlemen's and Miners' bar and raced through Win's Cafe and Sanders grocery. On one side it stopped at a firewall protecting the Crystal Palace, on the other it was blocked before hitting the Tombstone Cafe. The fire was under control two hours later and just about out at 3:30 a. m.

Awaits Gas Death, Takes Own Life

San Quentin, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Oscar Hugo Brust, 47, slated to die in San Quentin's gas chamber tomorrow for shooting to death his wife and stepson in Lancaster, Calif., in 1954, committed suicide early today by slashing his throat with a piece of mirror.

The State Supreme Court was to rule today on his petition for a stay of execution.

Associate Warden Ben Baer said a prison guard making a routine hourly check of isolated cells on death row found Brust's body at 5:20 a. m., a piece of the mirror glass still clutched in his right hand.

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Former Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash.) appeared in court today to testify as an expert witness in the contempt of Congress trial of playwright Arthur Miller. Cain showed up in U. S. District Court in response to a request by Miller's attorneys. He told reporters he had made himself available, but did not know whether and, to what extent he would be allowed to testify.

Reports Speidel Behind Killings Of King, Barthou

Berlin, May 23 (AP)—East Germany's Communist party organ claimed today it has documents showing that Gen. Hans Speidel, top German member of the NATO staff, was behind the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou in 1934.

The story in the party newspaper Neues Deutschland appeared aimed at those Frenchmen who objected to Speidel's appointment as commander of NATO ground forces in Central Europe because he was chief of staff to the German occupation commander in France for a time.

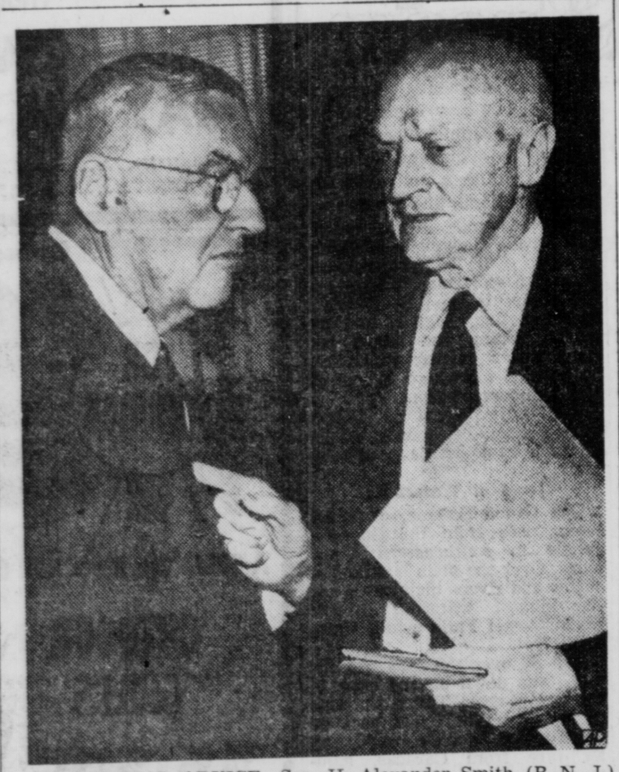

The Yugoslav king and Barthou were killed by a Macedonian terrorist as they rode through the streets of Marsaille.

Neues Deutschland charged Speidel prepared and organized the plot while assistant German military attache in Paris. The Red organ gave this account:

Hitler viewed Barthou as an obstacle to his plans to dominate Europe.

Catskill High Pitcher Checks Kingston High With Two Hits

Greene County Tossers Beat Maroons, 5-1

Billy Hitchcock of Catskill High limited Kingston High to two hits and fanned 11 as Greene tossers whipped the Maroon, 5 to 1, Wednesday at Catskill.

The contest was called because of rain after Kingston's turn at bat in the top of the sixth.

The Catskillians, trailing 1-0, broke up a tight pitching duel between Hitchcock and Don Krueger with a five-run explosion in the bottom of the fifth. Krueger yielded seven hits but misplays figured prominently in the Catskill scoring.

Two errors, a squeeze play and four singles accounted for the Catskill cluster. Hitchcock quickly snufffed out Kingston's hopes for a counter rally in the sixth by striking out the side. He walked the Armstrong and Mickney to start the second inning but fanned O'Connor and Riggio for the last two outs.

Ronnie Janeczek's walk and Hobie Armstrong's triple accounted for the lone Kingston run in the fourth. Armstrong had a perfect day with a hit, walk and hit batsman in three trips.

Coons stroked a pair of singles for the home club. Catskill played errorless ball behind Hitchcock.

Rhinebeck Schedules Full Slate of Stock Car Races

A full card of Non-Ford stock car racing will be the program for Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday night. The full show will include three qualifying heats, two semi-final events, a consolation race and a thirty lap feature event. The Non Fords are expected to put on one of their best racing programs as the new products built by fastidious car owners through the winter months make their debuts on the speedy asphalt oval.

Several top jockeys are expected to have new mounts for the speed joust—some are reaching completion this week, while still others are already completed.

Expected to be on deck with new mounts will be such drivers as Jack Campion, Dick Overeld, Dick Place, Pete Peterson and several others. Last week's winner, Bill Boo of Pawling is due to return with his rapid Chevrolet with which he romped to victory. Boo will probably find his toughest competitor in D. D. "Rebel" Harris who is due back in the same Inello Chrysler that he stomped at Boo's heels with last week. Bud Williams, Phil Marks, Bill King, Tom McGrath and many others will join the fray.

Gates at the Fairgrounds oval will open at 7:30, with warmups holding the spotlight until the first heat gets under way at 8:30 p. m. under the arc lights.

Reading Hurler Wins Own Game

(By The Associated Press)

Reading pitcher Jim Peete came through at the right time in the ninth inning last night—his first time at bat, not the second.

Peete entered the Reading-Syracuse Eastern League game as a pinch-hitter and smashed a double that scored two mates. The blow sparked a six-run rally that ended when Peete struck out.

But his whiff didn't matter. The big inning enabled the visiting Indians to overcome a 5-2 deficit and walk off with an 8-7 victory and second place in the league standings.

In the only other game, the high-flying Binghamton Triplets made it six straight victories, tossing Schenectady for a 4-0 loss. The defeat dropped the Blue Jays into third and kept Binghamton in first place.

No Park Exempt

Frank Robinson and Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs hit home runs in every National League park during 1956.

With the advent of another baseball season and the attendant volume of boxscores it becomes imperative that teams and leagues adhere to certain rules designed to insure maximum publication.

All scores must be reported to the downtown office of The Freeman no later than 9 a. m. the day following the game.

No boxscores will be accepted over the telephone.

The boxscore should show the following: name of team, league, player's position, viz: 1b, cf, lf, rf, the at bats, runs and hits. .....

Boxscore summary, plus score by innings, should include two base hits, three base hits and home runs; bases on balls and strikeouts for each pitcher.

Names should be printed or written legibly.

League secretaries are responsible for maintaining and reporting daily standings for their leagues. Boxscores submitted without the league standing will not be accepted.

The daily report should also list the games scheduled for the next day.

Flam Overhauls Canadian Foe

Paris, May 22 (AP) — Herbie Flam, the Davis Cup ace from Beverly Hills, Calif., saved American tennis prestige today by rallying for a five-set victory over Canada's Robert Bedard in the French International championships.

Lane Kayoes Brown in 6th

Detroit, May 23 (AP) — "This southpaw business is confusing," said the little man they call Toothpick Brown. "He was always coming at me from the wrong side."

Toothpick had recovered sufficiently from his sixth-round knockout at the hands of Kenny Lane and was rambling on and on about how difficult it is to "figger" a southpaw.

It was a clear mismatch that brought Brown and Lane together in last night's nationally televised and broadcast (ABC) lightweight bout from Detroit's Olympic Stadium.

The 24-year-old Lane, after dominating the action through the first five rounds, connected with a looping right hand in the sixth round and Brown was counted out at the 1:14 mark.

The stubby Lane staggered Brown in midring early in the fight and never let up. Brown, who had been idle since breaking his right hand last November, first tried to fight back and then held on as Lane continued the bombardment with both hands.

It was the 46th victory in 51 starts for Lane and strengthened his bid for a crack at the winner of the title bout next month between the champion, Joe Brown, and Orlando Zulueta.

From Scratch

University Park, Pa. (NEA)—Like most of his players, Coach Ernie Baer never saw a lacrosse game until he entered Penn State as an undergraduate.

Rose Schatzel, queen of the Hudson valley's bowling firmament for more than a decade, is on the threshold of a major ten-pin achievement.

If Rose's 1773 all-events survives the final weekend of shooting in the New York State women's tournament at Elmira this weekend, she will become the first bowler, man or woman, ever to capture three state all-events titles.

The all-events is the major crown in any tournament. It encompasses nine games and resolves into a battle among the cream of the crop. Few fluke victories are ever recorded in the all-events. We hope the news from Elmira is good for Rose next Monday.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Kingston Woman's Bowling Association made a splendid choice in elevating Mrs. Nell Alverson to the presidency as successor to Rose Schatzel. Mrs. Alverson is not only a good bowler but an able executive who understands all the angles of the distaff side of bowling. Incidentally, she is a 170-average shooter in New Paltz and holds the all-time village marks of 255 and 619. . . . If you had to guess which of these two all-time major league baseball records will be broken, how would you pick it: Lou Gehrig's 2130 consecutive games or Joe DiMaggio's 56-game batting streak? We'd pick the Gehrig streak. Nobody will ever come close under modern baseball's day-night scrambling around the clock. . . . Jackie Farrell should be a big pull for the City Baseball League dinner Saturday night at The Barn. . . . Farrell's reputation as a reconteur of baseball tales is fabulous.

Year after year, day after day there is no better odds in sports than giving 7 to 5 that a batter will foul the first pitch after a 3-2 count, unless it's a ball. Give it a try for a week and see how you come out.

• Of Men and Mice:

Ronnie Ashdown is back home after a brief fling at minor league ball. He was recently released by the Paris (Ill.) team of the Midwest League but is not abandoning hopes for a professional baseball career. Ronnie expects to play with the Kingston Colonials in the New York-New Jersey League and maybe attend a baseball camp next spring. His size mitigates against him in this era of oversized players but we hope Ronnie keeps trying. . . . Binghamton, the Yankee farm team in the Eastern League, has shipped Billy Short of Newburgh, by way of Port Ewen, to the Peoria (Ill.) team of the Three-I-League. . . . A kudos to Wayne Johnson of the Esopus Legion Little League for his 17 strikeouts. . . . Kingston bowlers, stung by George Palmateer's gentle chiding about their perennial miseries on Bridge City lanes, say he stands corrected on his squib that Wagner-Adler Highskores of New York set the all-time state tournament record on alleys 7 and 8 at the Bowlodrome. Matter of fact, it was on aleys 5 and 6, the "toughest" pair in the house.

• About Farm Systems:

District Representative of Little League, Vernon J. Kelder of Ellenville, has high praise for Ray Radel, president of the National Little League, who is proving that a little determination and hard work can do wonders reviving a near-dead league. It has to do with Radel's organization of a farm system for the National League. The farm system for surplus but eager young candidates who don't make the grade should be a must for all leagues who have extra players. It is interesting to note that the Hurley Little League has assembled a fifth team. The minor league farm system means more work in many cases for already hard pressed volunteer workers. But it will pay dividends in the long run. Anything that will make a disappointed 8 or 9-year-old happy is worth trying.

Kingston Jayvees outhit their Saugerties High counterparts but a flock of unearned runs gave the Sawyers a 5-1 victory Wednesday at Cantine Field.

Omaha — Wayne Womochil, 190, Omaha, stopped John Hardy, 199, Milwaukee, 4.

This department's survey of Venezuela is now complete. We traveled 5,235 miles over the Andes and the high jungle country, across the Ilanos and along the coast, then into the headwaters of the 1,600-mile Orinoco river.

We made a complete inventory of what will be available to American sportsmen in 1958 and the prospects are unlimited for bird shooting, jaguar hunting, marlin fishing and mixed bag fresh water casting which has no parallel elsewhere in variety and numbers of fish.

The Lost World is 14,000-square miles of jungle wilder than the remotest parts of Africa.

Land of Waterfalls

The Grand Sabana, or Great Plain, rises from the Guayana Jungle in southeastern Venebuela. Over the plain is a land of buttes and rivers, high jungle and the highest waterfall in the world, Angel Falls, which drops 3,212 feet.

You fly over the falls and the plane sits down on the bank of the Caroni river. This is the edge of the Lost World. The package trips which include round trip air fare from Caracas, hammock, mosquito net and meals range from $77.65 for two days and one night to $183 for ten-days and nine nights.

Now all you have to do is round up some Indians and go the rest of the way. This is not for the male without woods experience or a large insurance policy. There are plenty of jaguar, tapir, crocodiles and wild board, plus ducks, screamers and other game birds.

There are fish such as the giant cachama, cardinita and bull pavon.

Bradford Drops Last NY-P Game

(By The Associated Press)

Drink a toast today to the Bradford Blue Sox who have trotted off a diamond in the New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League for the last time.

The Blue Sox's departure from the Class D League last night was hardly brightened by their 11-3 loss to the Braves at Wellsville. The last-place club ended its record with five victories and 15 losses.

In other games, the Falcons defeated Batavia, 6-2, at Jamestown, the Erie Sailors downed the Red Sox, 4-1, at Corning, and Elmira split a doubleheader with the Oilers at Olean, losing the first, 2-1, and winning the nightcap, 6-5.

Chisox May Give Lopez Second Flag Over Yanks

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

What Manager Al Lopez was able to accomplish only once in six years at Cleveland, he may achieve in his first year at Chicago.

That would be beating the Yankees, of course.

The White Sox' early whirlwind pace no longer is to be snickered at. Even the so-called experts who predicted a New York runaway are beginning to take the White Sox seriously.

How can you ignore a team which owns a comfortable three-game lead after five weeks of play . . . A team that has won 20 out of 27 . . . A team that rebounded from three straight defeats by the Yankees to win nine in succession, the last two from the same Yankees in their own back yard?

Happy Road Back

No wonder Lopez' merry men were in a jovial mood today as they roared west after cleaning up everything in sight in the east. The Chicagoans capped one of their best road trips in history yesterday by winning their second straight from New York 8-4 to increase their first place American League margin to three games over Cleveland and four over the third place Yankees.

The Boston Red Sox tied a league record with four home runs in one inning as they routed the Indians 11-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Tom Brewer. Baltimore nipped Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings and Kansas City outslugged Washington 8-6.

Cincinnati protected its one and a half game National League over Milwaukee, walloping Brooklyn 8-1 while the Braves were struggling to beat Philadelphia 4-3 in 13 innings. The New York Giants edged Chicago's Cubs 4-3 and the scheduled game between Pittsburgh and St. Louis was rained out.

Jim Wilson scattered 10 Yankee hits to register his fifth victory against one defeat as the White Sox clubbed starter Johnny Kucks and two relievers for 11 hits.

A tight battle between 35-year-old Wilson and young Kucks was broken up in the sixth inning when Chicago scored five unearned runs on four hits and two Yankee errors. Errors by Mickey Mantle and Billy Martin and Minnie Minoso's double were the key plays.

Brewer had an easy time registering his sixth Boston victory against two defeats. Sixth inning homers by Gene Mauch, Ted Williams, Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone equalled the four-in-one-inning record first set by the Red Sox (Williams was in that one, too) in 1940 and tied by Detroit in 1950. The major league record is five by the 1939 Giants and 1949 Phillies. Williams had two for two to raise his average to .404.

Al Pilarcik's single in the 10th scored Tito Francona with the run that gave Baltimore its first extra inning victory of four they played this week.

Zernial Slams Two

Big Gus Zernial slammed two home runs and a single to drive in three runs as the Athletics snapped a three-game losing streak and ended a string of 29-consecutive scoreless innings.

Johnny Klippstein, who had a 9.45 earned average, an 0-3 record without a complete game, snapped Brooklyn's five-game winning streak with a route-going five hitter as Cincinnati handed young Sandy Koufax his first defeat of the campaign. Ed Bailey hit his fourth homer and Roy McMillan drove in three runs with a double and single.

Red Schoendienst's ninth-inning single scored Daryl Spencer, who had doubled, with the run that gave the Giants a split in their two-game series with the Cubs. Allen Worthington, who replaced starter Ruben Gomez in the seventh, hurled three scoreless innings for his third victory. Winless Bob Rush suffered his fifth straight loss.

Adios Harry, Dottie's Pick Vie for $25,000

Yonkers, May 23, (AP)—The first of the rich New York stakes for harness horses will be raced tonight at Yonkers Raceway, with a smart field of nine battling in the $25,000-added Good Time Pace.

Adios Harry, the world record holder owned by J. Howard Lyons of Greenwood, Del., is the 8-5 favorite in the one mile affair, with Dottie's Pick next at 9 to 5. Dottie's Pick, owned by J. E. and C. E. Armstrong, Brampton, Ont., and Adios Harry have defeated each other in two previous meetings this season.

The Good Time, usually run in the fall at a mile and a half, has been shortened to one mile due to the early season, and with such a classy field the Yonkers track record of 1:59 4/5 set in 1955 by Adios Boy is threatened.

Menace Wins

Menace, driven by Frank Safford, closed with a rush to win the $4,500 Croton Pace last night before 18,557 by a nose.

The winner came from fifth at the half-mile pole to nip My Anniversary, handled by Stanley Dancer. The favored Brooke's Honor, with Billy Haughton at the reins, finished third after setting the early pace.

Menace paced the mile in 2:05 and paid $8.50 in resistering his first success in three starts this season.

Award Winner

New York (AP)—Roger L. Stevens, a Detroiter who once owned the Empire State Building, has been awarded the Sam S. Shubert Foundation award as the theatrical producer of the year. Stevens, who splits his time between real estate and show business, was represented with a dozen dramas this season. His activities include management of several theaters, being co-producer for the Playwrights Company and Producers' Theater, a financial backer of the off-Broadway Phoenix theater, and an executive of the American National Theater & Academy and The New Dramatists Committee.

Three important changes in The Twaalfskill Club's women's golf calendar were announced today by Mrs. Edward Remmert, general chairman of golf activities, following a meeting yesterday with the golf committee.

The new official opening date is Tuesday, June 4, when a Flag tournament and opening day luncheon will be combined.

Date of the Member-Guest tournament has been changed from June 25 to Tuesday, July 23. The qualifying round for the club championships will be from July 2 to July 15.

Mrs. Remmert also announced the appointment of Mrs. Christine Harris to the golf committee as publicity chairman.

Helfand, NBC Support IBC Fight Against Trust Suit

New York, May 23 (AP)—Two influential organizations were lined up behind the International Boxing Club today in its stand against a government proposal the IBC says could mean an end to boxing as we know it and as television has made it.

In this corner: Julius Helfand, chairman of the powerful New York State Athletic Commission. In the same corner: Tom Gallery, sports director of the National Broadcasting Company, which telecasts the weekly Friday night fites.

Both struck key blows for the IBC while testifying yesterday before Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in the government's monopoly suit against the IBC, its subsidiaries, and club officials James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz.

Judge Ryan, who has declared the IBC guilty of anti-trust regulations in conspiring to monopolize promotion of fights, is conducting hearings to determine the extent of penalties to be meted out.

"Would Be No Fights"

The government wants the IBC dissolved and Norris and Wirtz compelled to sever connections with the club's two main bases of operation, Madison Square Garden and Chicago Stadium.

The IBC contends such steps would damage boxing and yesterday, Helfand and Gallery agreed.

Under questioning by defense attorney Kenneth Royall, Helfand said sponsors of the Friday night TV fights probably would withdraw their support if the Garden was not permitted to continue the series, particularly if title fights could not be included.

Asked what effect it would have on boxing if the Friday series were cancelled, the commissioner said bluntly: "I don't think you would have any boxing."

Gallery confirmed Helfand's opinion when he followed him to the stand, saying that NBC would not be interested in contracting for less than 52 weekly bouts a year.

Albany State Defeats New Paltz Nine, 8-3

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Steele are shown in yard of their home. Mr. Steele, a heavyweight wrestler turned auctioneer, and his wife operate Bob Steele's Auction on Route 9W. (Freeman photo).

Former Wrestler Observes Sixth Year at Auction

Bob Steele's Auction, the first such operation in the Kingston area, is now in its sixth year—but what visitors to the "show" may not know is that the man who presides with such ease and persuasive charm was at one time quite an athlete.

Robert J. Steele, "Bob" to his many friends, was a heavyweight wrestler once. He says he represented the United States at the Tournament of Champions in Buenos Aries, Argentina, for two years, 1935-36. Bob also claims to have won the coveted "Black Belt" in the oriental art of judo.

Football Too

The erstwhile army captain of World War 2, who established the auction on Route 9W about a mile north of Kingston, when he was discharged in 1946, says he wrestled at the University of Alabama, and played tackle on the football team.

The muscularly stacked gentleman with the warm smile, a native of New York city, is a member of the Masons, Elks, Moose and American Legion. He is much in demand as a public speaker.

Upon discharge as a captain in the U. S. Army he came to Kingston with his wife, a tall statuesque blonde who looks as though she might have stepped right out of the Ziegfeld Follies, purchased the old Sweeney estate at the top of the Wurts street hill, and founded the auction that bears his name.

Auction Was "Idea"

The auction and discount market was established on a shoestring—"started from scratch," as Bob puts it, referring to the auction as "my baby."

"My husband likes people and people like him," interjected Mrs. Steele—the former Frances Lee of Norfolk, Va., known familiarly as "Butch."

The auction was "just an idea we had," said Bob. He disclosed one of his secrets when he explained that "personal contact is the important thing." He pointed out that it was one of his first principles to "treat people courteously. . . . We know most of our customers by their first names. They are more than customers."

A basic thought, said Bob, is that "all sales are not final. The customer must be pleased or his money is refunded."

About Auctioneering

He cited what he describes as the "entertainment value of the auction," pointing out that many people enjoy it as a kind of "show." The showmanship of the auctioneer on the block is "another source of entertainment for the community."

Mr. and Mrs. Steele have originated 11 other auctions in New York state and Massachusetts but have sold them in order to devote their full time to the Kingston establishment.

Incidentally, Mrs. Steele was a famous child beauty at the "tender age of six," finishing as runnerup in a national child beauty contest sponsored by a film company in connection with a build-up for the well-known series entitled "Our Gang Comedy." She aso works at the auction.

The Steeles have four children, three girls and a boy. They are Penny Lee, 11, Nikki Rae, 10, Steven Mark, 8, and Cindy Lou, 7.

Keenan Retains Empire Crown

Glasgow, Scotland, May 22 (AP)—Peter Keenan of Scotland retained his British and Empire bantamweight crowns tonight when he stopped 23-year-old John Smillie, also of Scotland, in the sixth round. Each weighed 115 pounds.

Smillie seemed to be on his way to victory over the 29-year-old Keenan, who has had 55 professional fights. But in the sixth a vicious right cross to the jaw dropped the challenger for a count of eight. Right after Smillie got up. Keenan sent him crashing to the canvas again, this time for a count of nine.

Smillie staggered to his feet but Referee Jack Hart stopped the scheduled 15-round contest.

The Mormon Church abolished polygamy in 1890.

Albany State Teachers pounced on starter Frank Buckley in the third inning to score five runs and move to a 8-3 victory over New Paltz State Wednesday at Albany.

Mike Brown, Albany pitcher, scattered six Hawk safeties to breeze to an easy victory. He was wild in spots but had an effective strikeout ball in the clutch.

Tom Berger rapped a pair of singles for New Paltz and Giuliani had a double. Fowler cracked four singles in five trips for Albany and Devlin contributed a couple of singles.

Berger and Ronnie Young worked relief pitching roles for the losers.

UPSURGE—A new survey shows that check fraud, described as the "nation's fastest-growing crime," has increased 19 per cent over last year in the dollar amount involved. Of a record three trillion dollars in checking account transactions last year, 535 million dollars represented bad checks. Newschart above shows that "amateurs" and men are the greatest offenders. Supermarkets have replaced department stores as the favorite target of the "paper" writers. Data from survey by the Todd Company.

Herb Score Says Vision Is 'Hazy'

Cleveland, May 23 (AP)—Herb Score said today he can see light and motion out of his injured right eye, but everything is "hazy."

The 23-year-old southpaw pitching ace of the Cleveland Indians told his first news conference since he was injured two weeks ago that his vision has improved very much in the last few days.

To a reporter standing three feet from him as he sat on his bed at Lakeside Hospital, Score said, "I can tell you are there, but I can't recognize you."

Lens Covered

He was wearing spectacles which had the right lens covered with a black hood. There was a pin-prick hole in the center of the hood.

He said that at vision tests yesterday, "I could see the wall and tell that there was a chart on it, but everything was very hazy."

Appearing in good spirits, he cracked jokes with half a dozen newsmen who were permitted to see him for the first time since he was hit by a line drive from the bat of Gil McDougald, in a game with the New York Yankees here May 7.

Score said he did not know when he would be able to resume pitching.

"It's up to the doctor. He's managing me."

Tests "Satisfactory"

Dr. Charles I. Thomas, the eye specialist who has been treating Score, said the young pitcher probably will leave the hospital during the early part of next week.

He will go to Hagerstown, Md., to recuperate at the home of his uncle, A. F. Flood.

Dr. Thomas said the vision tests showed "very satisfactory response to treatment."

Score said that six days ago when he opened his injured eye he saw absolutely nothing.

"Now I can see the walls and everything. It's better than seeing blackness, I tell you."

Confessed Slayer Faces Quiz in Another Case

Waterbury, Conn., May 23 (AP)—George J. Davies faces questioning about the sudden disappearance five years ago of the granddaughter of former Wyoming Gov. Nels H. Smith.

The 38-year-old convicted sex-offender admitted yesterday, police said, that he killed on May 9 a 17-year-old French-Canadian girl whom he contacted through a job wanted ad in a newspaper.

Earlier in the week, Davies confessed to killing 8-year-old Brenda Jane Doucette, whom he abducted as she walked to school May 13.

Police said both were sex slayings, although neither girl had been raped in the attacks.

Connie Smith was 10 years old when she disappeared from a girl's camp in Salisbury—about 25 miles northwest of here.

She was last seen hitchhiking on a road near the New York state boundary at 8:30 a. m., July 16, 1952. After that there wasn't a trace of her.

TO THE TOURIST — Norway's famous North Cape is featured on this new Norwegian stamp, issued for the benefit of the Norwegian Tourist Association. One of a series of three, this blue, 65-ore stamp carries a surcharge of 25 ore, which goes to the association.

DENIES DIVORCE REPORT—Actress Ingrid Bergman, who gave up her home and family to marry Italian director Roberto Rossellini, scoffed at reports that he plans to divorce her and marry the wife of an Indian film director. Visiting in Paris, the Oscar-winning actress said, "I think the whole thing is made up. . . . I think someone is trying to hurt my husband."

PREMIER DESIGNATE—Sen. Adone Zoli, president of Italy's Christian Democrat party, is trying to form a new government to end Italy's political crisis. Zoli, 69-year-old budget minister in the outgoing cabinet of caretaker Premier Antonio Segni, accepted the task after conferring with President Givanni Gronchi.

Javits Defends Budget, Attacks Critics of Ike

Syracuse, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Sen. Javits (R.-N.Y.) said today that if the Republicans revert to ultraconservatism they will jeopardize their chances to win Congress next year and the Presidency in 1960.

In a speech prepared for the Onondaga County Bar Assn., Javits criticized those attacking Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending budget, adding:

"I think we should be vigilant that under the guise of economy, the ultraconservatives do not seize the opportunity to return the country to a long-outmoded isolationism in foreign policy and entrenched opposition to any federal participation in small business, health, housing, education and similar programs now accepted as standard by a great majority of our voters.

The ultraconservative approach, the failure to adopt modern needs could lose for the Republican party in 1958 and 1960 as it lost for us in 1932, 1936, 1940, 1944 and 1948."

A talking dictionary, with magnetic recording, is now available to the blind.

Fire Destroys School

Redding, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Fire destroyed the Buckeye elementary school—but that didn't free its youngsters for the balance of the year. Notes of Life

Philadelphia, May 23 (AP)—The organ at the St. Paul's Episcopal Church in the nearby community of Oaks was out of service recently. The church had kittens there. However, the event happened during the week and the family was strong enough to be moved by Sunday.
